FAMINE IMPENDING

Hurricane Renders Porto Rico Destitute

Gen. Davis Asks the Government to Send Food to the Starving Thousands—Many Natives Killed During the Storm—American Troops are Living Under Canvas.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The War Department today received a cablegram from General Davis, giving fuller details of the damage done in Porto Rico by the hurricane. General Davis says a famine is impending and asks authority to issue rations to the destitute. The message is dated yesterday and says:

"Later reports show that hurricane was far more severe in interior and southern part of Island than here. Data for estimate of number of Porto Ricans who have lost everything is deficient, but I am forced to believe that the number on the Island cannot fall below one hundred thousand souls and a famine is impending. I ask that two and one half million pounds rice and beans equal quantities of each, be immediately shipped on transports to Ponce. Same here. Urgent appeals to all post commanders for food for the destitute. Am I authorized to relieve distress by food issues, rice and beans only desired. There have been many deaths of natives by falling walls. So far only one soldier reported dangerously injured. Several towns reported entirely demolished. As yet have reports from only four posts. Complete destruction of all barracks at two and at two others one company of each had barracks destroyed. Troops are in canvass. No reports yet from the largest ports, Ponce and Mayaguez, but they were in the vortex of the storm. At least half the people of Porto Rico subsist entirely on fruit and vegetables and the storm has entirely destroyed this source of support.

ASPHYXIATION

Henry C. Cockerille Meets Death

ACCIDENTALLY BY ESCAPING GAS

Was Stopping at Relative's House

IN THE ABSENCE OF THE FAMILY

Medical Examiner Reports Death by Asphyxiation

Henry Cushing Cockerille, aged 54 years, residing at 9 Shaffer street was found dead in bed late yesterday afternoon as the result of asphyxiation in a house at the corner of School and Varney streets. When the body was discovered the room was filled with gas, that was pouring from an open jet.

Cockerille was a machinist of steady habits and was stopping temporarily at the house in which the lifeless remains were found.

A strange thing in connection with the affair is that the police were not notified and knew nothing of the finding of the body until the fact was communicated to them at midnight from a person who received his information through an outside source.

The fact that the body was not discovered until late in the afternoon following the evening on which the man retired, especially when the gas jet was turned on, and when the whole house was filled with the odor of gas, is the occasion of much speculation.

The lady who occupies the house where the dead body of Mr. Cockerille was found would simply say that Mr. Cockerille retired at an early hour Wednesday evening and that she, presuming the next morning that he had risen early and had gone to his work, had no occasion to go up stairs in the forenoon but that when she went up in the afternoon to take care of the front he had occupied she found him dead in bed with the gas turned on.

Inasmuch as Mr. Cockerille was in the enjoyment of the best of health had steady employment, was of genial disposition and had a happy home at 9 Shaffer street where he resided with his wife and one son his friends are at a loss to understand what motive he could have had for self destruction.

THE LATEST VERSION.

The later facts in the case appear that Mr. Cockerille was sent for by Mrs. Chase, who occupies the house at the corner of School and Varney streets and who was the aunt of the man's wife.

In the house with Mrs. Chase lived a young, highly respected widow and owing to the numerous house burglaries that have been reported in the newspapers recently Mrs. Chase thought it was best to have a man there to keep a watchful eye over the place during her absence.

When Mr. Cockerille was approached on the matter by Mrs. Chase he consented and was in the performance of this duty when he met his death.

The young widow had occasion to go out during yesterday and did not return until late in the afternoon when the smell of gas attracted her attention toward the sleeping chamber of Cockerille. She knocked and received no response and called in a neighbor who resided across the street, namely, Mrs. Orrin Osgood, who entered the room and found gas oozing forth from the open jet and Cockerille lying in bed close by in the close embrace of death. The gas was turned off and Medical Examiner Irish sent for who after a superficial examination signed the return "Death by Asphyxiation." The body was then given in charge of Undertaker Currier and by him removed to Cockerille's late lodge, 9 Shaffer street.

MARY ELLEN SIGSBEE KERR, Daughter of the Famous Captain of the Maine.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11.—The publication yesterday of the secret marriage of Mary Ellen Sigsbee, daughter of Captain Sigsbee of the ill-fated Maine with Balfour Kerr, a young artist, caused no end of amusement here and in Jamestown. The Sigsbees occupy the King cottage in Jamestown. Capt. Sigsbee is at Bay Harbor with his ship. "I can't say anything about it," said the daughter today, blushing. "My mother is indisposed and cannot see anybody." Mrs. Kerr read the article but declined to tell anything to it. Her mother likewise refused to talk. "Captain and Mrs. Sigsbee have known it for some time," said Mrs. King whose cottage the family occupy. "But Mr. Kerr has not been in Jamestown this summer."

He is an art student whose family is well off. Both attended an art school together in Washington and there was no particular reason for secrecy as the parents would not have sternly opposed the wishes of their daughter in a love affair. They were married in New York city Nov. 26, 1898, the bride refusing to give her father's name and signing herself Mary Sixbee.

BAILEY BAYLEY

Whole Army of Them at Willow Dale

SEVENTH ANNUAL REUNION YESTERDAY

A Good Time Despite the Weather

Descendents of John Bailey of Salisbury and Thomas Bailey of Weymouth, had their seventh annual gathering at Willow Dale yesterday.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather there was a large attendance.

Dudley P. Bailey of Everett, presided at the morning session.

Hollis R. Bailey of Cambridge, Mrs. Milton Ellsworth, Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell and other members of the genealogical committee made reports.

Dr. Bailey responded for the line of Richard Bailey of Rowley.

The reports were ordered printed.

Pres. Bailey delivered an address suggesting co-operation in compiling genealogy.

Edwin Bailey of Lexington responded for the committee on certificates of membership and by-laws. He also complimented the secretary, Hollis P. Bailey, for his work of compilation.

Mr. Bailey suggested a number of amendments. The report was adopted, as was the form of membership certificate suggested.

John Alfred Bailey of Lowell presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted as follows: Dudley P. Bailey, Everett, pres.; Edwin A. Bailey of Lexington, George Edson Bailey of Marchfield, Horace W. Bailey of Newton, William H. Reed of South Weymouth, Milton Ellsworth of Rowley, vice pres.; James P. Bailey, Lawrence, treas.; Hollis R. Bailey, Cambridge, sec.; John L. Bailey, Newton and Mr. Eben T. Bailey of Boston John Alfred Bailey, and Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell, Harrison Bailey of Fitchburg, Mrs. Edward M. Bailey of Ashland, executive committee.

A short musical program followed and a paper was read by Horace W. Bailey of Newbury, Vt. His subject was "Richard Bailey of Rowley and His Descendants." Mr. Bailey said that he had read in some papers of the Bailey family of their civic, clerical and military records, but he acknowledged that he was unable to find much trace of an active war record. Eight descendants of John Bailey of Salisbury, residing in Newbury, Vt., he said, volunteered for the Spanish-American war. He said that in the next town history of Newbury, much space will be given the Bailey family. He closed by extending the greetings of the Baileys of Newbury.

Hon. J. Warren Bailey of Somerville read a memoir of William Wallace Bailey of Nashua, the late president and a memorial resolution in his honor was adopted by a rising vote.

An original poem written by Eliabeth Emerson Bailey of Marietta, O., was read by the secretary.

Miss Esther B. Curtis promised a paper at a future day on the Baileys of England.

The president humorously remarked that undoubtedly there would be a war record developed for the Bailey family in that paper.

Pres. Bailey made a brief address on the life of Isaac Hazelton Bailey, who died since the last reunion.

The exercises closed with the singing of "America," and dinner was then served.

Miss Mary J. Carmichael of the Weed street school has gone to Old Orchard for the remainder of the vacation. She spent last week with friends at Plymouth, Mass.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Juvenile Offenders on Trial Today

JUDGE HADLEY SUGGESTS REGISTRATION

Of All Those Riding Bicycles in Lowell

In the police court this morning three drunks were arraigned before Judge Hadley.

Richard King was fined $5, and John Toohey and Richard Lendrum were each taxed $6.

George Brown was charged with the larceny of a coat valued at $1, the property of William Scott. Brown pleaded guilty and the court sentenced him to jail for six months. It was Brown's second offence for larceny. The coat was taken from Mr. Scott's room in the Arlington Hotel.

George Pierce, a juvenile, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny. He was charged stealing a bicycle valued at $25, the property of Herbert E. Haselton. The wheel was stolen from the curbing in front of Mr. Haselton's house in Market street, Tuesday afternoon. Adolphus Johnson testified that he saw a small boy remove the bicycle from the curbing Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Mr. Johnson was not positive that the defendant was the boy.

Mrs. Haselton said she reported the larceny to Officer Redmond Welch, Tuesday evening. The officer found the machine at the defendant's house. The defendant at that time denied stealing the bicycle.

Before imposing sentence, the court made a few remarks about the case. He suggested that all owners of bicycles be compelled to register. Then if an officer found a person riding a bicycle who was not registered he would be empowered to arrest him on suspicion. This, the court believed would do away with considerable bicycle stealing.

The court thought the defendant was too young to impose a direct sentence. Instead, the boy was continued in the sum of one cent till Sept. 8.

The cases of Louis Landry and James McCullough, charged with being stubborn children, were again continued.

The case of James Aloupis, one of the Greeks charged with assault and battery upon Officer Walsh, which was to be tried today was continued until tomorrow for trial. Aloupis was not tried with the other Greeks because he is a juvenile.

The case of Frank Caouloo, charged with non-support of his child was tried. It was placed on file.

A NEGRO LYNCHED

His Body Riddled and Horribly Mutilated

HAD FRIGHTENED WHITE WOMAN

Who Had Given Him Some Food

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. Aug. 11—A special to the Commercial Appeal from New Orleans, says:

"News of a lynching in Grant Parish, La., has been brought through the finding of the mutilated body of a negro floating in the Nayichie creek. The victim was M. Singleton, who some days ago went to the house of V. Boyett, a planter, and asked for food of Mrs. Boyett, who was alone in the house. Mrs. Boyett took some bread and meat to the front gate when the negro ordered her to carry it for him into the bushes across the road. Mrs. Boyett at once took flight and ran through the house and out into the field, where her husband was at work. The details of the pursuit of the negro of his capture and execution are very meagre, but the corpse riddled with bullet holes and mutilated condition of the man's body show that the lynchers resorted to all the latest barbarity in execution of their victim.

Misses Elizabeth A. Garra, Misses Mary and Grace Ward, and Miss Nellie Keyes have started on a few weeks' vacation to be spent in North Scituate.

A HORSE KILLED

In a Frightful Collision in Haverhill

THE RESULT OF FAST DRIVING

Occupants Had a Narrow Escape

By Associated Press to The Sun.

HAVERHILL, Aug. 10.—A frightful collision between two teams in which one horse was instantly killed and three persons had a narrow escape from being seriously injured took place on Maine street, near Monument square this evening.

The horse killed belonged to W. D. Austin who was driving up the street the other animal owned by William Powers and driven by James Powers, was coming in the opposite direction.

The latter had been racing along the macadam road with Charles L. Humphrey.

As his horse came along in the rear Mr. Power's horse made a sudden plunge forward. He was unable to control the animal and he continued down the street.

Another horse, owned by an unknown party, avoided a collision. Mr. Powers did not see Mr. Austin who had just passed the obstruction in the street and was driving along leisurely.

The Powers horse was then going at a runaway speed and the collision was terrific. The shaft of the Powers carriage struck Austin's horse in the breast, entering the body and striking the heart. It reared when the contact came and a shaft of Austin's carriage struck Powers' horse also in the breast but glanced upward opening a ragged wound. His condition is serious but not fatal.

When the collision occurred Mr. Austin and Mr. Powers were both thrown out of their carriages but escaped with slight bruises.

Mrs. Powers, who was driving with her husband, was pitched forward but was saved from being thrown to the ground by the dasher of the carriage.

The Austin horse fell dead instantly and Mr. Powers quickly caught his animal which was thrown to the ground. Both carriages were badly damaged.

Hundreds of the soldiers were drowned. Seven hundred of the enemy were killed, while 2,000 natives who resisted the onward march saved their lives by joining the rebels.

Elder Anderson claims wonderful successes lately in the southern states. He says: "Over a hundred branches were founded in 1898. The outbreak is distinctly political. They do not attack our doctrines and they cannot dispute the good we do. We have established branches in places where hitherto there has been neither church nor chapel."

KAISER'S BELIEF

Dewey Did Not Use Words Reported

RELATION OF TWO COUNTRIES FRIENDLY

Increase of German Fleet Means Nothing

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—According to the Berliner Tageblatt, Emperor William received Congressmen John Edmund Foss of Illinois, and U. S. Naval Attache Bebler on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern last Wednesday at Kiel, granting them an audience of three quarters of an hour.

His Majesty began the conversation by expressing a belief that Admiral Dewey had not used the words attributed to him suggesting the possibility of a war between the United States and Germany. Mr. Foss replied that he had just come from Trieste where he had had long talks with Admiral Dewey who had shown no hostility to Germany.

The emperor then declared his conviction that German-American relations would always remain friendly. Germans in America, he said, would take good care that no aggressive or hostile policy should be pursued toward Germany.

Then, referring to the growth of the German and the American navies, the kaiser said:

"Formerly it was the strong German army that chiefly preserved the peace of Europe but the future of nations lies on the ocean. The increase of the German fleet involves no threat to any other power for the strongest nation is not even the more others will hesitate to begin hostilities. The increase of navies therefore, is in reality the best peace conference."

The Tageblatt does not vouch for the verbal accuracy of the foregoing but asserts that it is a faithful reproduction of the gist of the emperor's remarks.

A SHERIFF SHOT

By Burglars Whom He Had Surprised

ANOTHER VAUGHN CASE AT BOURNE

Burglars Though Wounded Got Away

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOURNE, Mass., Aug. 10.—Deputy Sheriff Edward H. Burgess of Monument beach, was shot by burglars early this morning dead, and dangerously wounded, Stillman Smalley, a watchman at Buzzards Bay, one mile distant. He surmised that the shooting was caused by burglars and taking his bicycle, he rode hastily to the village. When near the Bourne railroad station Smalley met one of the robbers, who was also on a bicycle, and going at a high rate of speed.

The watchman called upon the fleeing wheelman to stop, but the latter only slowed up that he could use his revolver effectively. He fired at Smalley, one shot taking effect in his throat. The wound is not a serious one. The watchman fired a shot or two, but the stranger easily made his escape. Afterwards a slight trail of blood was found on the road, which it is supposed, was caused by the burglar being injured.

Deputy Sheriff Burgess was taken to the Massachusetts general hospital at Boston by the train which left here at 7 o'clock this morning. One of the shots that struck him took effect in the abdomen and his condition is critical.

State Detective Lottery was immediately notified of the shooting and after daylight he and a party of villagers began a search of the woods in the vicinity of the town in the hope of finding some trace of the robbers. Practically nothing is missing from the market.

When Deputy Sheriff Burgess went to the place the two men were eating meat at a table. Very meagre description of them was obtained, owing to the uncertainty of the light.

The four men appeared later and asked to have the case reopened but Magistrate Breen refused to do this.

NOYE EXPLAINS

Why He Was Delinquent at Camp

HAD BEEN PROMISED A DISCHARGE

Thought He Had Received it

Officer Noye, whose arrest for camp duty caused considerable talk around Lowell, is now at home and offers an explanation of why he did not consider himself called upon to go to Framingham. He says that he was told by Captain Mitten, when he entered Company M, that if he (Mr. Noye) ever got on the police force, he would get his discharge from the militia. He had not attended drills for eighteen months. Eight weeks ago, he said, he met Capt. Mitten at the post office and the latter promised him a discharge from Company M.

He says it is the custom that when a man does not attend the company's drills, a corporal is sent after him, but nobody was ever sent after him until the officers came to arrest him to go to muster.

He said that he did receive a postal card notifying him of drills, but that was all. A couple of times, when he met Captain Mitten outside, the latter asked him if he could attend the drills and he replied in the negative, stating that his duties on the police force prevented him, and that he expected a discharge.

About the attempt of some of the boys at Framingham to give him a drenching, he says the water thrown into his tent did not come his way, and that the story about his running out in his night clothes was a fabrication.

Officer Noye is now wondering whether the authorities will insist upon his remaining in the militia or not. He thought that when they permitted him to remain at home when the company left for Cuba, they would not ask him to go to muster, as unless a man is called into active service at some time, there is no need of him drilling.

ALLEGED LOWELL ROBBER.

John Hurley and Henry Trickett came from Lowell Tuesday morning, says the Lawrence American of yesterday, and got drunk. The latter had $8 when he arrived here and when arrested by Patrolman Schenck, it was gone. Hurley was suspected of having gone through his friend's pockets, and upon being questioned said that he had no money. At the station he was searched and a $5 bill was found rolled up in his handkerchief. The evidence in court was sufficient to convict him and the court sentenced him to three months in the house of correction. For drunkenness an additional fine of $5 was imposed. Trickett was fined $1 for drunkenness.

WITHDREW HER APPEAL.

Annie Gannon of Lowell who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment last week and appealed, yesterday withdrew her appeal. The sentence of six months was affirmed. While in the dock waiting to withdraw her appeal, she took sick and was taken downstairs. She reappeared again in a short time.

Mrs. Esther Noe of Moody street is spending the month of August with her daughter, Mrs. Moran, in Ottawa, Ont.

AMERICANS WIN

All Races at I. C. A. Meet at Montreal

"MAJOR" TAYLOR WINS MILE PROFESSIONAL

Moran of Chelsea Takes the Two Mile Amateur

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11, 1899—The United States won everything in the world's cycle championship races here yesterday, and one of her riders, John Nelson of Chicago lowered all the world's amateur competitive records from five to 62 miles and established a new hour and a new two-hour competitive amateur record.

The other amateur who gained distinction by his brilliant work yesterday was Jimmie Moran who won the two-mile amateur race in great style.

Cherry was prevented from riding by his accident and Summersgill the mile champion, said he was through racing here, promising to give Peabody an opportunity to race him at the championship meeting a year hence. However, despite this promise, there is a strong possibility of the two coming together in a special race at Boston next week.

Massachusetts riders won all except the 100 kilometre amateur. As was expected, Taylor took the mile international championship but he had to ride hard for it. In this race Nat Butler again got the worst of the argument being robbed of third place by a decision of the judges. Butler fairly won it. But the officials here seem to favor foreigners above all others.

The Butler boys won the tandem pursuit race in great style. They broke the five-mile world's tandem record and it is believed that all records up to that mark were lowered but nothing official is given out.

The summary of the races is as follows

Two-mile amateur open—First trial, won by J. F. Ingraham, Lynnfield, Mass.; second, H. W. Link, Highland, N. A., Syracuse, N. Y.; time, 4m 38 2-5s. Second heat, won by W. A. Ladue, Cold Spring, N. Y.; second, T. Hoopes, Des Moines, Ia.; time, 4m 32s. Third heat, won by W. H. Fearing, Jr., N. Y. A. C., New York; second, J. F. Moran, Chelsea C. C., Chelsea, Mass.; time, 4m 35 2-5s. Fourth heat, won by Alf Sheritt, Brantford, Ont.; second, Percy W. Brown, Century club, Pittsburg; time, 4m 36 3-5s. Fifth heat, won by Earl W. Peabody, Wollawn C. C., Chicago, Ill.; second, John Caldow, Glasgow U. C. C., Scotland; time, 4m 29s. Sixth heat, won by A. Taillandier, France; second, T. P. Boisvert, Montreal; time, 4m 36s. Semi-Finals, first heat won by W. A. Ladue, N. W., Cold Spring, N. Y.; second, W. H. Fearing, Jr., N. Y. A. C., of New York; third, J. F. Moran, Chelsea, Mass; time, 4m 35s. Second heat, won by John Caldow, Glasgow U. C. C., Scotland; second, Alf. Sherritt, Brantford, Ont.; Earl W. Peabody, Chicago, Ill., third; time 4m 37 4-5s. Final heat won by J. F. Moran, Chelsea, Mass.; second, John Caldow, Glasgow, Scotland; third, W. A. Ladue, Cold Spring, N. Y., third; time 4m 32s.

AIRED IN COURT

Nashua Race Rioters Explain Their Difficulty

Peter Johnston and Thomas Moran, the two men who came together so forcibly in the late street fight between the Irish and Armenian residents of the city, were in police court this morning, says a Nashua despatch.

Johnston told his story in broken English and stated that he had lived in Nashua for five years and that for three years his name had been Johnston. In reciting his narrative of the fight, he said that he addressed a few soothing words to Moran relative to the trouble that had arisen among his people, and that while the honeyed expressions were still warm on his lips, Moran struck him savagely on the head with what appeared to be an immense club of wood. He knew nothing until he awoke in the hospital with the doctors bending over him. He also said that he had known but little since that day.

Several witnesses were called including the physician who dressed Johnston's wounds. He stated that the blow was a knockout one, but not of a dangerous nature. N. E. Rogers, an eye witness of that part of the fight in which Johnston and Moran played leading parts, testified that Moran struck the complainant.

Thomas Moran then went on the stand and admitted the assault, but claimed that it was aggravated by the language of the Armenian, who flung taunts in his teeth that no self-respecting man could stand. Upon such conditions he felt that there was but one thing to do, and he did it with a log of wood. Judge Hoitt bound Moran over in $300 bonds for the supreme court.

FLED FROM BEDS

People in Burning Block Scared

BOSTON FIREMEN GOT THEM OUT

Just in Time to Save Their Lives

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Fire broke out just before 1 o'clock this morning in the large tenement house, bakeshop and stable of J. W. Goodnow, baker on Centre street, near Green, Jamaica Plain. Three alarms within half an hour called nearly every piece of fire apparatus south of Dudley street to the scene. The property consists of a three and a half story wooden block numbered 710, 712 and 714 Centre street. Mr. Goodnow's bakeshop occupied the ground floor and several families live in the apartments above. The loss will not exceed $4000.

Great excitement was occasioned in the efforts of arousing and conducting these occupants to safety, some of them being overcome by excitement, while the rapid spread of the flames made their immediate getting out imperative. In night clothing and in scanty apparel hastily donned, nearly all rushed or were assisted to the street. No fatalities resulted.

BOXING GOSSIP.

The decision of the police board on Tuesday evening winds up the boxing in Lowell and henceforth the Nutone club will devote itself to other pleasures not under the official ban. The police commissioners in permitting boxing as long as they did, accommodated a large proportion of citizens who like such fun, a majority of whom are eminently respectable and prominent in the life of the city. When the official edict was rendered Tuesday night Manager Desmond gracefully accepted the inevitable and after thanking the commissioners for past favors went out and cancelled several matches already made for future dates. The Nutone club in its career never violated the confidence placed in it by the commissioners and the few disappointments are the lot of all clubs and were not the fault of the management. The local fraternity henceforth will read of the boxing in distant towns until some club in a city near at hand starts up, when they will pack their grips and make for the lucky town.

The New York Journal says:

"People are asking about this George Gardiner, a Lowell, Mass. middleweight who beat Bill Hanrahan and Harry Fisher in one week. That was an extraordinary record for a man who was never heard of before.

CYCLING NEWS

Eddie McDuffee has challenged Major Taylor to a 15-mile race to be held at Charles River park during the L. A. W. meet. If Taylor does not accept, the challenge is open to any rider who wants to take it up.

Jimmie Moran was an easy winner in the first heat of the half mile open amateur at Montreal, Wednesday. Ingraham, his team mate, was disfanced.

Nat and Frank Butler broke the professional two-mile open competition tandem record at Montreal, Wednesday they having pinced it at 3.47 3-5. This time is 14 seconds faster than the previous record.

In the one-mile amateur championship of the world at Montreal, the time was 5.43 2-5. It was pretty slow time for a race, where all the amateur champions of the world participated.

THE LAWRENCE OFFICE.

The 26th regiment is now practically full and by this evening it is expected that Col. Rice's regiment will have received its full quota, says the Lawrence Sun. It was originally intended to abolish the sub-recruiting stations which Col. Rice established in order to assist in filling his regiment as soon as the regiment had reached its quota but now that certain other regiments are finding difficulty in getting recruits, they are all to remain open and assist in filling these regiments.

The above are instructions from Washington, from the head of the recruiting department. Lieutenant Grant however, says he has had no order to stay recruiting for the 26th.

Boston Post—A very large portion of the recruits for the new United States volunteers are of Irish birth or blood or name. Irish names are also very well represented in the lists of officers appointed. I notice that one of the captains in Major Hartigan's battalion of the Thirtieth regiment is John H. Ryan, who was once an officer in the Clan-na-Gael guards. Major Hartigan himself may be of Irish descent. I have heretofore alluded to the way in which the army register is sprinkled with Irish names. The race takes naturally to soldiering, but its soldiering is all done for other countries than Ireland. It is not likely that it was ever done more cheerfully for any country than it is for the United States.

Did you ever See a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snowstorm.

No need of this snowstorm.

As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will

Ayer's Hair Vigor

melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation.

It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your system which may be easily removed. Address,

NOT A GAME OF CHANCE.

Advertising is not a game of chance. It is a game of skill. The skill in advertising is to prepare good, attractive and truthful advertisements, and then place them where they will receive the widest publicity, for the least money.

This can be done only by using the papers with the largest circulation, in the field you wish to cover.

The Sun has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

It is in every way

...Lowell's Greatest Newspaper...

THE DREYFUS "BORDEREAU" AND THE "DOSSIER."

The acquittal of Captain Dreyfus is already in sight. The bordereau upon the authorship of which he was mainly convicted is now a dead letter as far as evidence against Dreyfus is concerned, for Count Esterhazy has confessed that he wrote it to save himself. All that remains of the charges against Dreyfus is contained in the "dossier," a lot of papers supposed to bear upon the Dreyfus case. There are about nine hundred different papers, seven hundred of which have no reference whatever to Dreyfus. There are many letters from women retailing gossip of a salacious character, chiefly concerning military officials and prominent society women. The reason for secrecy in the examination of the dossier is not on account of anything regarding Dreyfus but because the names of two military attaches, one German, and the other Italian, are mentioned in connection with a public scandal. Were their names to come out in such an affair both nations might demand explanations as there may be no foundation whatever for the charges made. They may all be forgeries as are the vile documents accusing Dreyfus of secretly betraying his country. All these things go to show the flimsy character of the evidence upon which Dreyfus was convicted and the abject subserviency of the courts in convicting an innocent man just because the mob or the army called for his conviction. There is something rotten in the present French government which will soon become apparent if the country enters a conflict with any other nation. The rottenness is in the military regime. In the extent to which immorality is tolerated in high society and connived at by the government authorities for the reason that they themselves are implicated.

AS TO SKILLED MILL HELP.

The scarcity of good families of wooden and cotton mill help has become a source of great inconvenience to many mills and although not much is said about it, a good deal of machinery is stopped because competent operatives cannot be secured. The conditions that controlled the trade during last year made it barely possible for the average worker to earn a living for himself and family. Low wages and short time were the causes of thousands of Canadian families returning to their homes and others gave up the mill to take something that would afford a greater income. Good times have brought a large proportion back to their old occupations, but enough will never return to overcome the scarcity of help until the new hands are educated or overproduction again stops some of the mills.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

The scarcity of good help complained of in the above item is due entirely to the grinding policy of the modern mill agent. When good operatives object to working for the same pay as the most unskilled and careless, they are let go for a lot of textile arabs or for operatives who never before saw the inside of a mill, men and women who think themselves lucky if they can earn enough to save them from starving. The very best operatives are those who have some ambition, who strive to rise in their business, who demand fair wages and join a labor union, not only for their own protection but to learn something from associating with others. The skilled operative so popular with the mill men has proved to be a treacherous fake, a humbug and a sham.

DANGER FROM OVERHEAD WIRES.

The electrocution of four firemen while hoisting a ladder upon a burning building at Omaha furnishes another reason for putting the wires underground. What the Omaha firemen had to do was what Lowell firemen would have to do if they had to fight a fire in Merrimack street or Central street. They would have to hoist their ladders through a network of wires of high voltage and if the ladder happened to be a conductor or even if it is not, but is well wet, it will conduct a current of electricity that will kill any man. Such a fatality is not surprising when belt and trolley wires are everywhere dangling overhead along the sidewalks and over the roofs of buildings. The wonder is that there are not more such occurrences. The moral of the story is: Put the wires underground.

Judge Sheldon gave the newspapermen of Greenfield a severe lecture recently for publishing the fact that a case on trial before him had been tried in a lower court and that the accused had been convicted and fined $5. The judge at once took the case from the jury and calling in newspapermen responsible for the publication told them that they had no right to print the result of the trial in the lower court, as it was calculated to influence the jury. It is but a short time since Judge Bond fined the Boston Herald for exposing the opinion that certain evidence bore proof of guilt. It is plain that the press must be very cautious in referring to cases under trial by jury.

Snapshot photographs of the presidents strolling in the Adirondack woods depict him as wearing the top hat and tightly buttoned frock coat. Perhaps he likes this style of vacation garb, and if he does, nobody is called on to criticise. But if he wears it as a matter of concession to the requirements of presidential dressing, he ought to know that the great commonwealth American people would be glad to see him take his ease in a slouch hat and a flannel shirt.—New Bedford Standard.

That would be altogether too democratic for a ruler affecting the imperial dignity. We may be thankful that he goes without a body guard.

George Pullman taking the Keeley cure is an edifying spectacle. It brings to mind the misfortune that has followed that family ever since the victims of Pullman's greed in the town named after him, rebelled against his oppression. The old man has passed away and the sons have distinguished themselves by dissolute habits.

The president is reported to be enjoying seclusion at Plattsburg, N. Y. The politicians evidently don't expect any offices to be given out in the near future. But as there is a chance of gathering in the republic of San Domingo the imperialists will soon get after him.

In various sections of the state, the courts are bound to wipe out bicycle scorching on the highways. It is high time unless pedestrians are to be forced to depend upon balloon transit when ever they venture out of doors and balloons are expensive and gas not always at hand.—Milford Journal.

Ex-Governor Altgeld of Chicago is out against the democratic nominee in Kentucky. Mr. Altgeld seems very sore for some cause but he is taking the very step best calculated to destroy the last iota of his influence.

One fatal accident will move almost any city but Lowell. It takes at least half a dozen to arouse the city of Lowell, as has been demonstrated by the delay in appointing an inspector of wires.

One of the jokes of the Oh-O picnic was played by H. C. Metcalf, the well known and honored treasurer of the Lowell Irish Benevolent society. Hugh has served as treasurer for many years, in fact the organization will not take "no" for an answer when he declines to serve. Next to John Doherty he is the most conspicuous man on the beach with his grip-sack loaded down with money to boggle to the society. He is responsible to the railroad and all other people that have bills against the society. As soon as he reaches the city of Lynn he immediately goes to a national bank and relieves himself of this burdensome and responsible care which often amounts to over $2000 and receives in return a cashier's check which he can immediately get cashed on his return to Lowell. Yesterday while leisurely strolling along the beach one of the picknickers offered him $10 if he would let him carry the bag for an hour. Hugh immediately consented and when the fellow received the bag to his great astonishment, he found it as light as a feather but his $10 was not forthcoming. Hugh told him that he would consider it quite a favor if he would carry it around the rest of the day as he had no use for it. Mr. McCusker told me that within twenty-four hours after the picnic had taken place all bills were paid and everybody had what belonged to them. This, undoubtedly is a record that no other organization can boast of and it is due to Mr. McCusker's business ability.

CUBANS HOSTILE

TO AMERICANS IN ALL LINES OF BUSINESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—The Herald complains of the difficulties which it alleges are put in the way, not only of American doctors and lawyers, but of every branch of business, claiming there is seeming intention to make obstacles to discourage anything likely to do the country good. In conclusion it says:

"We cannot understand this feeling of hostility against the citizens of a nation desirous that Cuba take her rightful place in the commercial world."

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11.—The Empress of Japan brings news that a British cargo boat on the Canton river was boarded by pirates who carried away a cargo worth $75,000. The commander of the Sandpiper, an Admiralty launch, built last year at Hong Kong for protection of trade on the rivers, steamed after the pirates, who, however, succeeded in landing their goods near a village called Kinchat. The commander of the Sandpiper asked that the pirates be delivered to him and the request refused. No satisfactory reply was given and he shelled the place, which was entirely destroyed.

NEW MILL

RAPID PROGRESS MADE ON THE AMOSKEAG'S NEW STRUCTURE.

The big new mill of the Amoskeag corporation in Manchester, N. H., in which many Lowell mill employes are interested and occupying the site of the old No. 1 looms up in an almost completed state. The roof is about boarded over and a gang of laborers has already begun to tar and finish it off.

The strangers for the scaffolding are being put up all through the building and as fast as possible the looms from the south part of No. 5 mill will be moved over to the structure. Besides this old machinery to be placed in operation, the machine shops of the corporation are at work upon a large order of looms for the new mill.

Connection between the huge penstock running to the water pits at the south end of the basement was almost finished on Wednesday and a force of masons was at work on the race-way running from the back of the mill to the river.

This mill, like the big No. 11 building will be heated with hot air for which five boilers are now being put in in the basement.

While the work of perfecting the south section of the mill goes rapidly forward the building of the foundation and walls which extend up alongside No. 5 also continues.

THAT BORDEREAU

Which Condemns Dreyfus Written by Esterhazy

WHO SO INFORMS THE COURT

In a Letter Just Received

EXPLAINS EVENTS LEADING TO IT

Esterhazy a Physical and Mental Wreck

By Associated Press to The Sun.

RENNES, Aug. 10 Commandant Currier, commissary of the court martial which is trying Dreyfus, received a letter from Maj. Esterhazy yesterday.

The letter is Esterhazy's refusal to return from London as a witness at the trial in response to a subpoena and guarantee of safe conduct from the French government.

The letter is a rambling and disjointed communication of 4000 words, evidently work of a disappointed mind. That Esterhazy is practically mad everybody who has met him knows. His emaciated face, his burning, glittering eyes, sunken deep in their sockets, his deeply furrowed forehead and his high spasmodic nervous tension, all show clearly to any alienist the incurable result of sleeplessness, dissipation and absinthe.

Esterhazy makes specific statements in the letter just received which are of the highest significance, as follows:

"I entered into relations with Schwarzkoppen, the German military attache, in 1894.

"Schwarzkoppen told me that he had in his service at the French ministry of war a captain of artillery. I told this to Sandherr, and he said: 'I know the man and I've got him.'

"I wrote the bordereau on Sandherr's instructions, and took it myself to the German embassy when I knew Schwarzkopen was away from Paris on leave. It was seized there by one of our agents, a German, and taken to Col. Henry.

"Henry was my friend. I had lived beside him for a long time. He knew me very well. He knew my handwriting better than anybody.

"Henry said to me: 'Our hands are full of proof against Dreyfus.'

These are specific statements, and this was the absolute beginning of the action against Dreyfus. The two active agents in causing it were Esterhazy and Henry. Esterhazy wrote the bordereau and had it delivered by a spy to Henry who knew he wrote it.

The arrest having been made and court martial instituted, the further action of these two conspirators is full of the greatest interest. All the evidence against Dreyfus on which he was condemned, degraded and transported consisted of two things, the bordereau now admittedly written by Esterhazy, and the secret dossier.

Concerning this secret dossier, which is now being considered with closed doors, by the court martial at the Lycee, Col. Henry's testimony at the Zola trial seems to have been entirely forgotten. It was in answer to Labori. He testified:

"I am going in addition to explain my position with regard to this dossier. I long ago assumed the responsibility of it.

"In Nov. 1894, Col. Sandherr came into my office and said: 'I wish you would furnish me with everything you have concerning espionage since you have been in office here.'

"This period was a year. I went over my records and furnished him eight or nine documents."

MRS. PEROT TRIED

For Alleged Kidnapping and Again Continued

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 10 Mrs. William Y. Perot of Baltimore, Md., charged with abducting her daughter Gladys, was again remanded at Bow street police court today, until Tuesday, bail being allowed as previously.

At the conclusion of the hearing she was served with a habeas corpus to produce Gladys, granted on the application of Mr. William H. Perot, her father-in-law and returnable in the High Court Saturday.

The court was well filled with a fashionably dressed audience before the commencement proceedings, including Misses Blood, N. Blood, Solicitor General Richards, W. H. Perot, Sr., Messrs. Hodson and Sumner of the United States embassy, Detective Cault and the lawyers interested in the case. Mrs. Perot appeared holding Gladys by the hand.

Counsel for Mrs. Perot said he had received the extradition papers only an hour previously and had not had time to examine them. Therefore he asked for a short adjournment.

Mr. Newton Crane, counsel for Mr. W. H. Perot, said he did not object, provided it was understood that there would be no further postponement. This was agreed to.

Mrs. Perot left the dock smiling at Gladys, and saying: "Come along, darling." After she left the court room, the habeas corpus was served.

SECRET MARRIAGE

OF TWO PROMINENT CONNECTICUT SOCIETY PEOPLE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SIMSBURY, Conn., Aug. 10.—It became known today through a formal announcement that Charles P. Case, the son of Alonzo Case, of this city, and Miss Sarah G. Eno, a daughter of Amos Eno of Simsbury and connected with the New York million dive of that name, were secretly married in New York in May last. It is said the young woman's parents and members of the Eno family were bitterly opposed to the match.

In May Miss Eno visited South Norwalk and thence went to New York where Mr. Case is employed as a bookkeeper in Fulton market. The marriage took place secretly and the young bride returned to Simsbury where nothing was known of the ceremony.

Meanwhile the opposition of the parents was modified but Mr. Case, the grandfather, was obdurate. The latter's death in New York on Sunday, however, removed further necessity for secrecy and the young couple yesterday attended the funeral together. Returning to Simsbury the May marriage was announced.

GOT HEAVY FINE

Batchelder of North Chelmsford Fined $100

FOR PRETENDING TO BE AN INNHOLDER

Alleged Liquor Sellers Also Fined

There were no drunks in the police court this morning.

George Vanetas was found guilty of assault and battery on Marie L. Adam. The court imposed a fine of $10, which was paid.

James Curtin was charged with threatening his wife. He was found guilty and was placed in charge of Probation Officer Tuttle for a term of six months.

Thomas McMaster of Tyngsboro, was charged with illegal keeping of liquor. He pleaded guilty and without any trial, the court imposed a fine of $75. McMaster paid.

Robert B. Moxley, for assault and battery on James White, was sentenced to jail for a term of five months. This assault occurred in a stable in Church street Tuesday. Both men, it appears, were intoxicated at the time. Moxley knocked White down and severely kicked him about the head and face. White was so badly assaulted that he was taken to St. John's hospital where his wounds were dressed. In court his face presented a battered appearance.

The case of John J. Meehan, charged with non-support of his child, was placed on file.

BATCHELDER FINED $100.

James Cashman, charged with illegal keeping of liquor, was found guilty and a fine of $75 was imposed. Cashman appealed and was held in $100 for the superior court.

Joseph Ryan and Fred Batchelder of the Adams House of North Chelmsford were jointly charged with pretending to be inn-holders without having a license and also with maintaining a liquor nuisance.

Mr. Batchelder was fined $100 for pretending to be an innholder but Ryan was discharged.

The case against these men for maintaining a liquor nuisance was continued until Sept. 9.

The continued case of Sydney P. Gowing, charged with forgery, was put over to August 24.

The arguments in the case against the Greeks for assault on Officer Walsh were made. Lawyers Hennessy and Hogan argued for the defendants and Deputy Moffatt for the prosecution. The court reserved its decision until Saturday morning.

Marden to fill vacancy in committee on invited guests. At 12 o'clock adjourned one hour for dinner.

Treasurer Drewett reported the receipts of the last fair as $4777.86, expenditures $2282.07, balance in treasury $2495.79. Various matters relating to the fair next month were then considered and action taken. The committee on attractions reported that they will consist of bicycle races, bicycle parade and other features. Major E. J. Noyes will have charge of the horse trots and he asked for $1250 to be given as prizes. Dea. Joshua Clark and President Tolles spoke upon the advisability of building permanent amusement and exhibition buildings for the exhibition of stock, but no action was taken. Treasurer Drewett set forth the excellent financial condition of the society and dwelt upon the improvements that have been made. The message at the morning session was in the form of Secretary Rowell's last warm tribute to the interest and zealous efforts of the society and to this personal worth and genuine Christian character. The session closed at 2 o'clock.

DAMAGE IN GUADALOUPE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Advices from La Pointe-a-Pitre, Island of Guadeloupe, says the cyclone did enormous damage in the interior of that island. A number of coffee and cocoa estates have been devastated. Le Moule, a suburb, was half destroyed. There were a number of fatalities.

St. John advices say the cyclone caused great destruction in Porto Rico where it passed northward to San Domingo and thence to Cape Haytien and the eastern end of Cuba.

COLUMBIA AGAIN

Has Defeated Her Rival, the Defender

BUT BY LESS THAN TWO MINUTES

Bad Weather Rendered Matters Disagreeable

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—It was not quite so favorable for fair weather early this morning as the New York Yacht club fleet prepared for the third run of the cruise to Vineyard Haven. The wind was rather light, and what there was of it came from a dark bank of clouds in the south which had every indication of rain. The air was also muggy. In fact everything wore a decidedly dog-day aspect, being lifeless and uncertain. The yachtsmen were up early, however, and those who were on deck at colors saw the flags go up on the finest fleet of yachts ever anchored in the harbor.

Five minutes after colors boomed out from the flagship, signals were set directing the fleet to go to Vineyard Haven today, and proceed from there to New Bedford tomorrow. There was considerable grumbling over the latter signal, and not a few of the yachts expressed an unwillingness to go into Buzzard's Bay. It is almost certain that neither the Columbia nor the Defender will go there, but will sail back to Newport tomorrow. Too many rocks off the harbor seems to be the excuse of those opposed to the Whale City.

Out at the lightship there was a large fleet of craft of all sorts, the steamers most generally lying by until the larger portion of the fleet had crossed the line while some stood right down toward the Vineyard. The breeze was a stiff one from the southeast with a heavy choppy sea and there were light air sails set while those who came out just to see the sights were satisfied to take in a single reef.

After everything else had squared away, the start being at 11 o'clock, even to the steamers for the next part, the big sticklers, Columbia and Defender hovered about the line. Both were hard on when the starting gun sounded, in fact the Defender was just in the act of tacking so as not to cross ahead of time.

At 11.20 the gun from the Corsair boomed and a red ball was hoisted. The Defender pointed up, her sails filled and in 30 seconds she crossed at 11:20:10 in a windward position. The Columbia crossed at 11:20:20.

Both were sailing like race horses, the Defender apparently increasing her lead until aboard the Columbia the sheets were trimmed a trifle and she ate upon the windward, continuing this as far as the eye could reach. The several yachts that had gone out to see the start turned back this noon. There is a fleet of fully 50 yachts left in the harbor, some of the larger ones may proceed later but the majority will remain here. Three-quarters of an hour after the start, a thick rain set in, completely hiding the yachts from view.

COLUMBIA WINS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Aug. 10—Columbia defeated Defender one minute 1 seconds on the 30 mile run from Brenton's Reef Lightship to West Chop today in a 15-knot breeze with mixed sheets.

Cancer.

Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C., writes: "Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, sister, and aunt having died from this dreadful disease. I was thoroughly alarmed, therefore, when a malignant Cancer appeared on my side, and at once sought the treatment of the best physicians. They were unable to do any good, however, as the Cancer continued to grow worse and spread. I then tried S. S. S., which forced the disease out, and cured me permanently."

WITNESS SAW WORKMEN BUILD APPROACHES

Another Says Contact Box Was Open

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 10.—The inquest into the cause of the trolley accident on the Stratton street railway last Sunday being held by Coroner Doten and a jury here, was continued this morning. The most interesting testimony during the forenoon session was offered by Mr. George E. Hawes superintendent of the Birdsey, Somers & Co., corset factory here.

Mr. Hawes testified that last Monday morning he visited the scene of the accident. He arrived there at 8 o'clock and remained nearly an hour. At that time the large number of men were engaged in filling and bumping with dirt the ties bearing the rails on the earthern approach at the south end of the bridge.

The men were divided into two gangs one of which worked about ten feet from the south end of the bridge and the other 150 feet further on. During the hour which he remained there, said Mr. Hawes two carloads of earth were brought up, dumped and tamped beneath and around the ties. Witness produced photographs which he had made as the work progressed and which he offered to the jury as evidence. He said that the photographs were taken merely out of curiosity. Since they were made, however, he had seen articles in the newspapers to the effect that little or nothing in the way of repairs on the approach had been done between the time the accident occurred and when the approach was viewed by the coroner's jury. He then decided, in order that the jury might have all the real facts in the case to appear before it.

G. E. Underwood of New Haven, an electrician who at the request of Coroner Doten had examined the contact box on the front end of the wrecked car next was called. Mr. Underwood testified that he found the door of the contact box partly opened. The condition of the box indicated that it had been opened with a screw driver or a similar implement, as the bolts all were unbroken and in place which hardly would be the case had the fall from the bridge broken the box thus causing it to open. An examination of the interior of the box disclosed the fact that two or three of the contact figures were missing, rendering the reverse lever useless. In every other way the box was in good condition. The power was turned completely off, but there was no evidence that the power had been reversed.

Mr. Underwood examined the rail on the bridge at the point where the car had passed over just previous to toppling off into the pond bed. He said that if the power had not been turned fully off at this time an electric arc would have been formed between the motor and the rail. Evidence of this arc would have if existed on the rail had it existed in the form of a black stain. The stain not being found he was certain that the power had been fully turned off before that point was reached.

Patrick Clark of Bridgeport requested that he be allowed to go on the stand as a witness to make a statement. The request was granted. Clark said that on Sunday afternoon at the time the car went off the bridge, he was in a carriage driving across the highway bridge almost directly under the place where the car fell. He also could produce two or three other men, eye-witnesses of the accident, who as yet have taken no part in the inquest. Clark said that after having read in the papers the statement of William Kelly of Bridgeport, who testified that he was on the car just before the plunge was made, and noticed that the car was not running rapidly, testified that the motorman did all in his power to stop the car in time to prevent an accident, and finally that by a sudden swerve of the car, he was thrown from the side over the bridge and into the mud on the flats below, he thought that the time had arrived for him to make a statement. At the time when the car came tumbling down from the bridge," said Mr. Clark, "I saw William Kelly sitting in a carriage on the highway bridge. As soon as the car struck the earth, Kelly jumped out and rushed to the spot and attempted to aid those in need. 'Kelly,' said Mr. Clark, 'was not on the car at any time.'

Hawes was taken at this point.

The recess was a short one and at its close Expert Underwood was recalled.

He was asked if there was anything about the car to indicate that it could not have been stopped in time to avert the catastrophe. He replied:

"No, I think there was time to stop the car after it left the rails."

MAZET HEARING

Hears Testimony Concerning Joints

MOSS WILL SHOW THE POLICE CORRUPTION

For Which Commission Is Responsible

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.— When the Mazet investigating committee resumed its session today Mr. Moss, counsel for the commission said the only book furnished by Captain McCluskey's detective bureau showing robberies, was a record of property recovered. A copy of this book was put in evidence. The record showed that property from all over the United States was brought to New York and disposed of in pawn shops and other places that in 1898 there was $202,000 worth of stolen property recovered by the police and returned to owners and that thus far this year $110,000 worth of stolen goods had been recovered and returned.

Mr. Moss called attention to the fact that Chief Devery's district showed no places suspected of being a gambling resort in the 22nd precinct while the evidence of the committee detectives was that they had gambled in a dozen such houses in that precinct alone.

Detective Wood, took the stand and said that in company with H. Harris he had visited a place in West 42nd street last night and got by the two "lookouts" all right. There was a Chinaman present and in one room there were about fifty women and men half nude lying on bunks and smoking opium. Some of the men appeared to be less than twenty years old.

The counsel said everything was all right as long as they came up with the "Long Green" and referred to Captain Meyenhan who commands the precinct as a "Good Fellow."

Wood further testified that he had made 100 visits to pool rooms in the city since he had last testified. He said that all the visits had been made since Chief Devery testified that no pool rooms were in operation in New York.

Summing up, Mr. Moss said: "We could close the pool rooms in 24 hours if it was any part of our duty." Mr. Moss said, "but we prefer to leave it to the police, the district attorney and the sheriff. We propose to show today that if the police department is demoralized, it is the fault of the commissioners. I have summoned policemen here to show the lenient way in which very serious offences are punished." At the close of his remarks the committee took a recess.

THE STATE BOARD

Of Health Turns Attention to Picnic Grounds

AND OTHER OUT DOOR RESORTS

To Ascertain Their Sanitary Condition

One of the inspectors of the State Board of Health as been detailed to begin at once an examination of picnic grounds and certain summer resorts in different parts of the state in relation to their unsanitary condition. Among the places to be visited are Rockport, Salisbury, Revere, Lynn, Nahant, Swampscott, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Bridgewater, Fall River, Taunton, West Medway, Brookfield, Worcester, Northampton, Westfield, Palmer, Springfield, Holyoke, Fitchburg, Athol, Gardner and Pittsfield.

The places to be visited have been decided upon and the inspector is about ready to start out on the inspection tour. Special notice will be taken of the water supplies at the different parks, picnic grounds and other places where large numbers of persons congregate habitually for amusement and the sewerage systems will also receive careful consideration.

A similar inspection was also made by the state board about two years ago, when it was seen that the temporary arrangements at many places were most unsatisfactory.

At the suggestions from proper authorities the managers of places for public amusements improved the sanitary conditions of the grounds and it is expected that this will be done again this year wherever it is deemed necessary. The state board of health has authority to the extent that it can insist upon healthful conditions and usually the local board of health also have power to enforce compliance with health regulations.

It has been observed that typhoid fever spreads more readily in September and October than in any other two months of the year and as near as the health authorities have been able to learn, the cause for this perennial outbreak is traceable directly or indirectly to unsanitary arrangements in country places where the public assembles for amusement and recreation.

TEWKSBURY CENTRE

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN BOSTON AND MAINE TRACKS.

Civil engineers of the Boston & Maine road have been engaged during the week staking out the "new changes" to the tracks in Tewksbury Centre, bringing passenger train service nearer to the state almshouse.

This will do away with the western division station, thus making one station answer the purpose of the two and at the same time reducing the help one-half.

Mrs. Warren Lincoln, formerly of North street, Tewksbury, is seriously ill at her sister's residence in Lowell and her life is despaired of.

Mr. Gilbert Hodge of Lowell, was visiting in this village last evening.

Mr. Arthur Burtt of East Tewksbury is confined to his home with paralysis.

A lawn party is to be held at the residence of Mr. Charles French in East Tewksbury in observance of Miss Daisy French's birthday next Monday night.

Mr. Benjamin Spaulding is now occupying his new summer cottage at Trudo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, formerly of Tewksbury, who have been visiting this village, and who have been recently occupying th Tingley cottage, at Plum Island, have returned to their home in Chicago.

Rev. J. Herbert Yeoman, pastor of the Centre Congregational church, is stopping with Mr. William Kiernan, on Pleasant street, until the arrival of his wife in about three weeks, when the parsonage next to the Eastman residence will be occupied.

A great many base ball fans felt much disappointed that the rain of yesterday prevented the game between Joe Duffy's team and that from the state almshouse. Big Jack Sullivan of Lowell was to handle the "spheroid" for the Duffy team, while "Ollie" Moulton was to be in the box for the almshouse boys.

How about that last car from Lowell Wednesday night. Some one felt like engaging in a "cuffing" match.

FOR LABOR DAY

PLANS MADE BY WEAVERS AND BUILDING LABORERS.

A regular meeting of the Building Laborers' union was held last evening in their hall in Middle street. Two candidates were admitted to membership and preparations were made for Labor day.

The regular meeting of the Weavers' union was held in Leonfixers' hall last night. The unfavorable weather deterred a large attendance.

About 50 women have already given their consent to ride in carriages in the Labor day parade. At the next meeting an aid to the chief marshal and a marshal of the Weavers' division will be chosen. A financial report was read and showed the union to be in a prosperous condition. The Labor day committee is arranging for a boat for the parade.

EXPENSIVE OPPOSITION

BOSS STONECUTTERS HAVE TO PAY THE NEW YORK UNION $10,000.

A novel feature in strikes this year is the imposition of fines aggregating $10,000 by a trades union on an employers' association for undertaking to break it up the union organizing another in its place. It was not an outright stand and deliver piece of business, but it was the carrying out of a vendetta by the Journeymen Stonecutters' society against the New York Stone Trade association, that had nearly succeeded in breaking it up. When it was thrown prone on the ground, however, it rose Antaeuslike with renewed strength, attacked the association and has just won.

The struggle lasted an entire year and more. It was in June, 1898, when the freestone planers made a demand upon their employers for a reduction of the hours of labor from nine to eight hours per day without any reduction of pay. The employers got together, refused to grant the demand, and the men struck. The employers had considerable supplies of rough dressed stone on hand and got along very well as long as that lasted. But when that was used up and the employers sought to fill the strikers' places with nonunion men the other men in the stone trade said they would not work with them.

This angered the employers, and they organized a powerful defensive and offensive alliance and announced that they were going to manage their own affairs and not submit to any outside dictation. They were joined by the employers in the same trade all around New York and invited workmen from other cities to come and work for them and promised them ample protection and as steady work as they could give. The strikes that followed involved several other building trades whose members refused to handle stone planed by nonunion men.

Many of the original strikers, however, weakened, and with these as a nucleus the employers formed another union under the name of Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2. Other nonunion men joined it, men of allied trades returned to work, and Society No. 1 became almost disincumbered, and its men returned to work under old conditions. Those who did return to work were told that they must join Society No. 2, and the men said their leaders were blacklisted.

These and others stood by No. 1 secretly and went quietly to work and brought back nearly all who were forced out. They allied themselves with the Building Trades Council, that had never recognized Society No. 2, and a few weeks ago they demanded that none but members of Society No. 1 be employed on any buildings and fixed the initiation fees to Society No. 1 at $40 for stonecutters, $20 for planers and sawyers and $25 for laborers.

The employers, who had not been aware of the quiet and steady growth of Society No. 1 and of its affiliation with the Building Trades Council, offered fight, but when confronted with threats of general tie ups and consequent delay of work and loss of money came to terms. The men of Society No. 2, whom they had promised to stand by and give steady employment to, were unable to pay the heavy initiation fees, which altogether would have amounted to about $20,000, it was said.

A conference was held between the representatives of the New York Stone Trade association and the Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2 about two weeks ago, and the association men offered to pay the initiation fees of the men of No. 2 if they were reduced one-half. This the journeymen offered to accept, and the executive committee of the New York Stone Trade association met and decided that the association would pay the amount of the fees providing Society No. 2 be amalgamated with No. 1.

President John R. Smith of the association said after the meeting, which was secret, that it was not definitely known what the amount was, although he did not deny that it was $10,000. Each member of the association, he said, will be taxed according to the amount given to the union.—New York Times.

Wardner and the President.

A Washington special says a committee composed of Edward Boyce, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and W. R. Goldensmith, a citizen of Idaho, accompanied by Senator Carter of Montana and Senator Heitfield of Idaho, has called upon President McKinley and laid before him facts concerning the recent riots growing out of the strike of the miners in Wardener, Ida., the part played by the Standard Oil company, and more especially the conduct of the colored troops called out to suppress disorder.

The president listened attentively to the long statement submitted to him, made copious notes, and it is said that he will demand an explanation of Governor Steunenburg of Idaho, whom the committee accuses of being at the bottom of the trouble.

The president was handed hundreds of affidavits, the majority made by women, who swore that they had been outrageously treated by the colored troops. More than one woman swore that she protected herself only with a revolver. Citizens of the county swear that they were robbed and maltreated by the soldiers out of pure wantonness.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

William A. Hogan of this city, supreme recording secretary of the Foresters of America, has been appointed chairman of the committee chosen to devise ways and means for receiving and entertaining the delegates to the next state convention, which is to be held in this city next year.

At the regular meeting of Court Gen. Shields, last night, one candidate was initiated and four applications were received and accepted.

Philip H. Roynane of Worcester and Patrick Delaney of Fall River, members of the auditing committee of the Foresters of America, were in this city yesterday for the purpose of auditing the books of the grand secretary and treasurer of the order, John P. Maguire, of this city, who is also a member of the auditing committee, assisted by the Messrs. Roynane and Delaney in their work.

Washington Commandery held its regular meeting last evening. The good of the order committee is hard at work preparing some entertainments for the fall meetings. D.G.C. George F. Howes, D.P.G.C. Frances Ellen Morrison and D.G.H. Frank W. Corson went to Lawrence recently and installed the officers of Starr King commandery. A jolly party went down with them on Simpson's brake and had a very enjoyable time. The officers of Malden Commandery were recently installed and some Lowell people were present. The installing officers were: George S. Armstrong, D.G.C., Addie S. Armstrong, D.P.G.C. and George F. Hines, D.G.H. The Lowell delegation returned home by way of Boston.

At the last meeting of the Reform club, three candidates for membership were initiated and four application were accepted. A committee consisting of E. B. Bowers, George Farrow, Timothy Curty, James Mullen, James McCabe, Richard Reddy and John Dunkley was appointed to have charge of the outing to be held August 20, at Crescent beach.

A GOOD PLACE

SELECTED BY MAYOR EATON TO STUDY SUNDAY LAWS.

Mayor Eaton of Lawrence visited Haverhill, Sunday. It seems that he is making Sunday tours to various cities to compare them with his own place, relative to quietness and general observance of Sundays. He made the trip about the city unaccompanied, and on visiting the police station, complimented the officers.—Newburyport News.

His Honor was shown the above item, says the Lawrence Sun, and after perusing it stated that it was correct. He further stated that he already had made many Sunday trips to various cities with this object in view and that he found the Sunday serenity of Lawrence compared favorably with other places. He is deeply interested, as a mayor should be, in the welfare of his city, material and moral, and says if the city is one whit behind other municipalities he wants to know it, just as much as he does if it leads.

MURRAY DROWNED

Capsized Boat by Standing in It

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—While returning from a Gay's fishing trip, John Murray of 86 Chelsea street, East Boston, was drowned in the channel just off the stone wall at Glover's Island yesterday afternoon. At the time he was accompanied by two other East Boston men, and they were rescued by two fishermen.

The cause of the accident was the overturning of the boat in which Murray and his friends had been fishing. Murray was an Englishman, 48 years of age, and he leaves a wife and six children, the eldest of whom is not over 12 years.

Early yesterday morning Patrick Ryan of 161 Marginal street, and Duke Hanson of 179 Marginal street, both longshoremen, employed at the Boyland line wharf, started to go fishing in Ryan's boat. On the way to the boat they met John Murray, also a longshoreman, and employed on the same dock. The latter asked to go with them and was welcomed to make one of the party.

On the return home, Murray stood up in the boat, causing it to capsize, and the other men escaped, while he was drowned.

THE LITTLE JOKER

Boy Playing Tricks on Business Firms

O'HEIR & CO. VICTIM OF ONE

And the Bon Marche the Other

There is a twelve-year-old boy residing in the Oaklands who, if he does not mend his ways, will find himself put under restraint by the police authorities. He is known by several business firms of Lowell as the "Little Joker," but if he persists in his jocular methods he may yet find that jokes sometimes act as boomerangs and with serious effects.

This youngster walked into O'Heir & Co.'s furniture store, Merrimack Square, on Wednesday afternoon, and went up to Mr. Albert O'Heir, addressing the latter as follows: "Mother wants you to send over to the house some cheap grade of oil cloth sufficient for two rooms and wants it laid, too."

When asked the whereabouts of the residence, the boy informed Mr. O'Heir that it was in the Oaklands beyond Wentworth avenue.

Yesterday forenoon, Mr. O'Heir sent over to the boy's home a roll of oil cloth and two men to lay it in position on the floor. When the two workmen arrived at their destination and acquainted the mother with their mission, she was almost dumbfounded, exclaiming: "That boy will drive me insane. I never ordered the oil cloth, and have no use for it, either." It is a way that my son takes of playing a joke on his father. Only the other day he dropped into the Bon Marche and ordered a picture sent to the house. It came and I had to return it, the same as I am now doing with th oil cloth. You tell Mr. O'Heir I am willing to pay him for the trouble that he has gone to."

The workmen left the house and reported the result of their interview with the woman to Mr. O'Heir, who, of course, was much chagrined. He had lost the time of two workmen, had considerable trouble in carting over the oil cloth and he sent his heavy team way over to the Oaklands when he could have used it for other purposes near the central part of the city. He did not know what to charge the woman and fearing that he might be considered as overcharging he concluded the best way out of it was to place it on the profit and loss account of his ledger, while he keeps meditating where the joker the boy is perpetrating some is on the father.

MILITARY LOSS

Sustained by U. S. at Porto Rico

AS A RESULT OF THE HURRICANE

A Company Barracks Totally Destroyed

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The secretary of war today received the following report from General Davis, commanding in Porto Rico of the cyclone of last Tuesday:

San Juan, Porto Rico, Aug. 9.

Hurricane of extreme violence passed over Porto Rico yesterday. The principal military loss at San Juan, one temporary company barracks wholly destroyed, some quartermasters' property damaged. No personal injury yet reported but all wires are down. No further to shipping here save two small local schooners sunk, two sailors drowned. San Juan lights temporarily disabled. Cable reports from Ponce say all shipping is ashore. Custom house sheds badly damaged and goods stored therein. Messengers from two interior posts tell of barracks unroofed and personal and public property damaged. The loss by the inhabitants is very great and extreme suffering must result. The last hurricane as severe as this was in 1876. I would suggest public works in the United States to the effect that contributions of food, clothing and money for the destitute would be received with the greatest gratitude and would be applied strictly to the relief of the destitute. Have appointed a board to supervise destitution. There are many thousands of families who are entirely homeless and great distress must follow.

DAVIS,
Commanding.

MURDERED MAN IDENTIFIED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, N. Y., Aug. 10.—From further descriptions received here from North Tonawanda there is no longer any doubt that the murdered man found in the box car at North Tonawanda was Thomas R. Davis of Rome. Edward Plunkett, who left here for the West with Davis on Saturday evening is under arrest. A 32-calibre American bulldog revolver was found on Plunkett's person. In it were three discharged shells and one snapped but un-exploded and one empty chamber. Plunkett admitted that he had been in Buffalo.

Davis was cautioned by several friends not to go with Plunkett who has served five years in the penitentiary.

REV. DR. BARROWS

Who Married Belmont and Sloane

PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY YESTERDAY

His Death Probably Hastened by Criticism

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 11—Rev. Dr. Walter M. Barrows, pastor of the Second Congregational church at Greenwich, died yesterday at Mackinac Island, Mich., of kidney trouble. He leaves a wife and several children. Dr. Barrows was 52 years old. Funeral services will probably be held on Sunday.

Dr. Barrows was the first missionary of the Congregational Home Missions society at Utah, was afterward secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary society, and for ten years pastor of the Second Congregational church at Rockford, Ill. He became pastor of the Second Congregational church in Greenwich in May, 1898.

Dr. Barrows had been in ill health for some time and a few weeks ago went west for quiet. He became ill and last week his family joined him. His death was unlooked for, however.

Dr. Barrows was prevailed upon to marry Perry Belmont and Mrs. Sloane here, which caused considerable discussion.

His death, his friends aver, was undoubtedly hastened by worriment over the criticism on account of the marriage.

KILLED BY TRAIN

While Stealing a Ride With Other Boys

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WORCESTER, Aug. 11.—The body of John Mackie, about 16 years of age, was found on the railroad tracks at Rutland, this morning. He was terribly mangled and was not identified until late this afternoon.

The body was found by David Cushman, who was walking on the tracks. He reported the matter to the railroad authorities at Jefferson.

It was learned later that the unfortunate lad, whose home is in North Cambridge, was stealing a ride with two other boys. They were bound for Holyoke. His companions reached Holyoke all right and did not miss Mackie until then. Their report of the matter led to the identification of Mackie.

MERRIMAC HERO

Oscar W. Deignan at Charlestown

ON THE GUNBOAT NARIETTA

Will Soon Get a Warrant Officer's Position

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Osborne W. Deignan, the young hero who stood at the wheel of the Merrimac and guided her to her grave in Santiago Harbor, and for whom congress passed a special act admitting him to the naval academy, reported at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday and joined the famous little gunboat Marietta as its chief boatswain's mate.

Deignan, who has but recently returned from Manila, from where he was sent home by Admiral Dewey to be mustered out and prepare for his entrance to the naval academy, has declined that honor for various personal reasons, and will continue in Uncle Sam's service as a chief boatswain's mate, the chief petty officer's berth to which he was immediately promoted after the Merrimac incident. He will be soon advanced, however, to a warrant officer's position of carpenter or that of gunner, which he wishes particularly and is striving for.

Deignan's present rate as a chief boatswain's mate pays him about $65 a month. As a warrant officer his appointment would be to life or good behavior like all officers draw a salary of $1500 per year, wear the same working and service uniform as that of the commissioned officers, have a stateroom of his own, mess with other warrant officers and junior officers of the ship, wear a sword and have numerous and responsible executive duties.

WILL LEAVE FROM BOSTON.

Mayor Quincy of Boston recently requested Secretary of War Root, in behalf of the citizens of Boston, to allow the 25th U. S. Vol. Regiment, now stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., to start from Boston on its way to the Philippines. In regard to this request, Sergt. Weber of the Lawrence recruiting station said:

"If the people of Boston and vicinity want the regiment to start from Boston, there is no reason why their request should be denied. It will not cost the government any more to transport the men to Boston than it will to New York. I think Mayor Quincy's request will be granted. If it is, the friends of the men who enlisted from Massachusetts will have an opportunity to see them before they go."

REBELS ROUTED

Retreated in Great Disorder From Calulit

Were Completely Surprised by Americans and Sustained Great Losses—Fired the Town as They Left—American Troops Sustained Comparatively Slight Loss

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—General MacArthur's troops remained last night at Calulet. The rebels had evidently fled far beyond rifle range, for the American outposts were not disturbed and not a shot was fired during the night. At daybreak this morning a reconnoitering party, consisting of a battalion o the 17th Infantry with one field piece, started up the railroad track toward Angeles, four miles north. The party approached within 1200 yards of the town and opened fire with the field piece. The Americans were received with a badly directed rifle fire, which the battalion of the 17th returned with a few volleys. The strength of the insurgents at Angeles not being known, the situation was reported to General MacArthur who did not desire to send reinforcements and directed the reconnoitering party to return unless the rebels abandoned the town. Soon after the receipt of these orders it became evident that he rebels had set fire to the town, and fled, leaving the place to be occupied by the Americans.

A battalion of the 12th Infantry was also sent out on a reconnoitering expedition towards the west; but up to noon no firing had been heard in their direction and no ward hod been received from them at General MacArthur's headquarters and it is believed they encountered nothing.

Everything indicates that all the rebels have scattered for miles in every direction around Calulet.

The insurgents lost heavily in the fighting around Calulet. It is believed that a hundred were killed and three or four wounded. The Iowa regiment killed thirty in one place, and one company of the 17th suddenly encountered a party of rebels in a trench and killed twelve.

The American loss was five killed and thirty-one wounded including three officers.

The attack was a complete surprise to the insurgents, who had no idea that a movement was intended until the armored car opened a deadly fire with two Gatlings, a revolving cannon and a sixpounder. The heavy artillery opened on both flanks a moment later. A majority of the Filipinos were asleep when the attack was made. Men with large bells were heard running along the shacks arousing the natives.

The Americans maintained almost a perfect line four miles —— through cane-brakes where they could see nothing ahead. The mud in places was knee deep in the rice fields and jungles, and through the ditches flowed a small river seval feet deep.

The Filipinos tried to ambush the Americans several times, the country in the neighborhood being well adapted to these tactics; but the troops stopped for nothing, forcing their way through or over obstacles and firing whenever they could locate the fleeing enemy.

The officers highly commend the recruits of the various regiments.

There is reason to believe the reports recently received that the insurgents are short of ammunition, as well-informed natives at Calulet say the insurgents had only forty rounds of ammunition each and that five rounds extra were issued just before the fight. Since the American occupation of San Fernando the rebels have torn up five miles of railroad between there and Calulet, and it is impossible to get the armored car more than two miles beyond San Fernando.

FAMINE IMPENDING

Hurricane Renders Porto Rico Destitute

Gen. Davis Asks the Government to Send Food to the Starving Thousands—Many Natives Killed During the Storm—American Troops are Living Under Canvas.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The War Department today received a cablegram from General Davis, giving fuller details of the damage done in Porto Rico by the hurricane. General Davis says a famine is impending and asks authority to issue rations to the destitute. The message is dated yesterday and says:

"Later reports show that hurricane was far more severe in interior and southern part of island than here. Data for estimate of number of Porto Ricans who have lost everything is deficient, but I am forced to believe that the number on the island cannot fall below one hundred thousand souls and a famine is impending. I ask that two and one half million pounds rice and beans equal quantities of each, be immediately shipped on transports to Ponce. Some here. Urgent appeals to all post commanders for food for the destitute. Am I authorized to relieve distress by food issues, rice and beans only desired. There have been many deaths of natives by falling walls. So far only one soldier reported dangerously injured. Several towns reported entirely demolished. As yet have reports from only four posts. Complete destruction of all barracks at two and at two others one company of each had barracks destroyed. Troops are in canvas. No reports yet from the largest ports. Ponce and Mayaguez, but they were in the vortex of the storm. At least half the people of Porto Rico subsist entirely on fruit and vegetables and the storm has entirely destroyed this source of support.

DAVIS.

FIVE HUNDRED DOOMED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Aug. 11.—It is now said that five hundred persons lost their lives at Ponce during the hurricane. Terrible distress prevails there. Arrelo on the south coast has been destroyed, sixteen lives were lost there and the town is still submerged in water. At Guayamo the houses are still standing. Seven persons were killed there. A number of houses were pillaged, squads of soldiers were unable to maintain order and starvation threatens the population.

The water supply of San Jpan has been stopped. The Conno Springs Hotel has been wrecked. It belonged to the Porto Rico company of Philadelphia.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Juvenile Offenders on Trial Today

JUDGE HADLEY SUGGESTS REGISTRATION

Of All Those Riding Bicycles In Lowell

In the police court this morning three drunks were arraigned before Judge Hadley.

Richard King was fined $5, and John Toohey and Richard Lendrum were each taxed $5.

George Brown was charged with the larceny of a coat valued at $4, the property of William Scott. Brown pleaded guilty and the court sentenced him to jail for six months. It was Brown's second offence for larceny. The coat was taken from Mr. Scott's room in the Arlington Hotel.

George Pierce, a juvenile, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny. He was charged wih stealing a bicycle valued at $25, the property of Herb. E. Haselton. The wheel was stolen from the curbing in front of Mr. Haselton's house in Market street, Tuesday afternoon. Adolphus Johnson testified that he saw a small boy remove the bicycle from the curbing Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Mr. Johnson was not positive that the defendant was the boy.

Mrs. Haselton said she reported the larceny to Officer Redmond Welch. Tuesday evening, the officer found the machine at the defendant's house. The defendant at that time denied stealing the bicycle.

Before imposing sentence, the court made a few remarks about the case. He suggested that all owners of bicycles should be compelled to register. If an officer found a person riding a bicycle who was not registered he would be empowered to arrest him on suspicion. This, the court believed would do away with considerable bicycle stealing.

The court thought the defendant was too young to impose a direct sentence. Instead, the boy was continued in the sum of one cent till Sept. 8.

The cases of Louis Landry and James McCullough, charged with being stubborn children, were again continued.

THIS GREAT
Deck-Clearing August Sale

Is a hummer. When we say that the average saving on all our remaining Summer Stock is at least half, we are rather underrating than exaggerating the facts. It is a big sacrifice but we do not flinch. We want the goods out of the way. Bear in mind that trash, soap-bubble stuff, we do not handle. New, fresh, up-to-date and dependable merchandise is the only kind that finds admission to our big store.

YOUTH'S SUITS, $1.97, $2.48, $4.95, $5.95, $7.87, 9.89.

Over half a hundred kinds to select from, containing from one suit up. Whether there are few or many, the price named means a cut away below possible profit paying, and in many cases below actual cost of trimmings.

MEN'S SUITS, $3.98, $4.47, $5.95, $6.95, $7.95, $8.95, $12.

Fifty per cent. under value. We want to sell these goods at once—that is why we name such prices. These figures do not represent the value of the cloth. Every suit must go within ten days. Money saved for you if you buy now.

MEN'S PANTS, 59c., 85c. $1, $1.68, $2.25, $2.98, $4.

Over 4000 to select from. Men wonder how we came to have so many. Never mind. We will soon have a good deal less at these prices. The prices represent an actual cash bonus of 75c to $2.50 per pair, which we offer you to carry them away.

ASPHYXIATION

Henry C. Cockerille Meets Death

Was Stopping at Relative's House

IN THE ABSENCE OF THE FAMILY

Medical Examiner Reports Death by Asphyxiation

Henry Cushing Cockerille, aged 54 years, residing at 9 Shaffer street was found dead in bed late yesterday afternoon as the result of asphyxiation in a house at the corner of School and Varney streets. When the body was discovered the room was filled with gas, that was pouring from an open jet.

Cockerille was a machinist of steady habits and was stopping temporarily at the house in which the lifeless remains were found.

A strange thing in connection with the affair is that the police were not notified and knew nothing of the finding of the body until the fact was communicated to them at midnight from a person who received his information through an outside source.

The fact that the body was not discovered until late in the afternoon following the evening on which the man retired, especially when the gas jet was turned on, and when the whole house was filled with the odor of gas, is the occasion of much speculation.

The lady who occupies the house where the dead body o Mr. Cockerille was found would simply say that Mr. Cockerille retired at an early hour Wednesday evening and that she, presuming the next morning that he had risen early and had gone to his work, had no occasion to go up stairs in the forenoon but that when she went up in the afternoon to take care of the room he had occupied she found him dead in bed with the gas turned on.

Inasmuch as Mr. Cockerille was in the enjoyment of the best of health had steady employment, was of genial disposition and had a happy home at 9 Shaffer street where he resided with his wife and one son his friends are at a loss to understand what motive he could have had for self destruction.

THE LATEST VERSION.

The later facts in the case appear that Mr. Cockerille was sent for by Mrs. Chase, who occupies the house at the corner of School and Varney streets and who was the aunt of the man's wife.

In the house with Mrs. Chase lived a young, highly respected widow and owing to the numerous house burglaries that have been reported in the newspapers recently Mrs. Chase thought it was best to have a man there to keep a watchful eye over the place during her absence.

When Mr. Cockerille was approached on the matter by Mrs. Chase he consented and was in the performance of this duty when he met his death.

The young widow had occasion to go out during yesterday and did not return until late in the afternoon when the smell of gas attracted her attention toward the sleeping chamber of Cockerille. She knocked and received no response and called in a neighbor who resided across the street, namely, Mr. Orrin Osgood, who entered the room and found gas oozing forth from the open jet and Cockerille lying in bed close by in the cold embrace of death. The gas was turned off and Medical Examiner Irish sent for who after a superficial examination signed the return "Death by Asphyxiation." The body was then given in charge of Undertaker Currier and by him removed to Cockerille's late home, 9 Shaffer street.

Are Preparing for a Long Seige.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11—The miners at the Stevens colliery near Pittston have gone on strike because the company refused to grant an increase of 33 per cent in wages. The men numbered 550 and say they are determined to remain out until their demands are granted. The number of miners now reported to be on strike in this district is nearly 500,000.

Those employed by the Susquehanna Coal company at Nanticoke and Glen Lyon, who recently went on strike, have removed all their tools from the mines and have evidently made preparations for a long strike.

The miners at the Delaware & Hudson colliery at Plymouth have upon demand been given an increase from $1.75 to $1.90

BOERS THREATEN

Will Wreck Johannesburg In Event of War

EXPECT TO BE FINALLY DEFEATED

Will Cost England a Vast Amount

GOVERNMENT GRANTS FURTHER CONCESSION

War Stores are Going to Transvaal

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Boer organ in London, the Standard and Diggers' News, today publishes a Johannesburg dispatch threatening Great Britain in the event of war, saying that the Boers are determined to wreck the mines and irretrievably ruin the general body of shareholders by blowing up millions worth of machinery, adding that war will mean the absolute ruin of Johannesburg, both as a town and as a mining center, and saying: "While it will doubtless end in a victory for England, the price of that victory will be the ruin of thousands who ought to consider the price they must pay before authorizing the government to declare war."

Another Johannesburg dispatch, however, predicts further concessions and says: "The reply of the Transvaal to the proposal for a joint inquiry is being delayed until the government has prepared a scheme granting the Uitlanders immediate and substantial representation, as the Transvaal will make every effort to avert intervention in the internal affairs of the country."

HIS PROFITABLE NIGHTMARE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Frank Thorpe, a Cincinnati cloak manufacturer, had a profitable nightmare in Room 139 of the Hotel Vendome last night. He dreamed he saw his sister being dragged to death and in his horror he awoke.

Then he had another horror. He saw a man creeping on his hands and knees to his bedside. Thorpe leaped out of bed and seized the man who proved to be a burglar. The prisoner was taken to a police station where he said he was Harrison Mineh.

MARY ELLEN SIGSBEE KERR, Daughter of the Famous Captain of the Maine.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11.—The publication yesterday of the secret marriage of Mary Ellen Sigsbee, daughter of Captain Sigsbee of the ill-fated Maine with Balfour Kerr, a young artist, caused no end of amazement here and in Jamestown. The Sigsbees occupy the King cottage in Jamestown. Capt. Sigsbee is at Bar Harbor with his ship. "I can't say anything about it," said the daughter today, blushing. "My mother is indisposed and cannot see anybody." Mrs. Kerr read the article but declined to add anything to it. Her mother likewise refused to talk. "Captain and Mrs. Sigsbee have known it for some time," said Mrs. King whose cottage the family occupy. "But Mr. Kerr has not been in Jamestown this summer."

He is an art student whose family is well off. Both attended an art school together in Washington and there was no particular reason for secrecy as the parents would not have sternly opposed the wishes of their daughter in a love affair. They were married in New York city Nov. 26, 1898, the bride refusing to give her father's name and signing herself Mary Sixbee.

BAILEY - BAYLEY

Whole Army of Them at Willow Dale

SEVENTH ANNUAL REUNION YESTERDAY

A Good Time Despite the Weather

Descendents of John Bailey of Salisbury and Thomas Bailey of Weymouth, had their seventh annual gathering at Willow Dale yesterday.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather there was a large attendance.

Dudley P. Bailey of Everett presided at the morning session.

Hollis R. Bailey of Cambridge, Mrs. Milton Ellsworth, Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell and other members of the genealogical committee made reports.

Dr. Bailey responded for the line of Richard Bailey of Rowley.

The reports were ordered printed.

Pres. Bailey delivered an address suggesting co-operation in compiling genealogy.

Edwin Bailey of Lexington responded for the committee on certificate of membership and bylaws. He also complimented the secretary, Hollis R. Bailey, for his work of compilation.

Mr. Bailey suggested a number of amendments. The report was adopted, as was the form of membership certificate suggested.

John Alfred Bailey of Lowell presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted as follows: Dudley P. Bailey, Everett, pres.; Edwin A. Bailey of Lexington, George Edson Bayley of Marshfield, Horace W. Bailey of Newton, William H. Reed of South Weymouth, Milton Ellsworth of Rowley, vice pres.; Louis P. Bailey, Lawrence, treas.; Hollis R. Bailey, Cambridge, sec.; John L. Bailey, Newton and Mr. Eben T. Bailey of Boston, John Alfred Bailey, and Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell, Harrison Bailey of Fitchburg, Mrs. Edward M. Bailey of Ashland, executive committee.

A short musical program followed and a paper was read by Horace W. Bailey of Newbury, Vt. His subject was "Richard Bailey of Rowley and His Descendants." Mr. Bailey said that he had read in some papers of the Bailey family of their civic, clerical and military records, but he acknowledged that he was unable to find much trace of an active war record. Eight descendants of John Bailey of Salisbury, residing in Newbury, Vt., he said, volunteered for the Spanish-American war. He said that in the next town history of Newbury, much space will be given the Bailey family. He closed by extending the greetings of the Baileys of Newbury.

Hon. J. Warren Bailey of Somerville read a memoir of William Wallace Bailey of Nashua, the late president and a memorial resolution in his honor was adopted by a rising vote.

An original poem by Elizabeth Emerson Bailey of Marietta, O., was read by the secretary.

Mrs. Esther B. Curtis promised a paper at a future day on the Baileys of England.

The president humorously remarked that undoubtedly there would be a war record developed for the Bailey family in that paper.

Pres. Bailey made a brief address on the life of Isaac Hazelton Bailey, who died since the last reunion.

The exercises closed with the singing of "America," and dinner was then served.

A NEGRO LYNCHED

HAD FRIGHTENED WHITE WOMAN

Who Had Given Him Some Food

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 11.—A special to the Commercial Appeal from New Orleans, says:

"News of a lynching in Grant Parish, La., has been brought through the finding of the mutilated body of a negro floating in the Naytuchie creek. The victim was M. Singleton, who some days ago went to the house of V. Boyett, a planter, and asked for food at Mrs. Boyett, who was alone in the house. Mrs. Boyett took some bread and meat to the front gate when the negro ordered her to carry it for him into the bushes across the road. Mrs. Boyett at once took flight and ran through the house and out into the field, where her husband was at work. The details of the pursuit of the negro of this capture and execution are very meagre, but the corpse riddled with bullet holes and mutilated condition of the man's body show that the lynchers resorted to all the latest barbarity in execution of their victim.

Omega Oil

For Sore Feet.

Most all of us have trouble with our feet. Seems like the shoemakers don't know how to make comfortable shoes any more. At night we take off our shoes with a sigh, and hobble away to bed. In the morning, our feet are swollen, sore, and tender. We then have to put on shoes and start off for another day's work. We often wish we were little boys and girls again, so we could go barefooted and really enjoy ourselves. But civilization makes us wear shoes, and we stuff our aching feet into whatever the storeman sells us. The only comfort to be had nowadays is to rub our feet with Omega Oil after bathing them in warm water. The Oil removes the soreness and tenderness. It makes the feet stop swelling, aching, and giving off a bad smell. It puts new strength and vigor into the foot muscles, and is such a comfort that you really can't tell in words what a good thing Omega Oil is.

"MAJOR" TAYLOR WINS MILE PROFESSIONAL

Moran of Chelsea Takes the Two Mile Amateur

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11, 1899—The United States won everything in the world's cycle championship races here yesterday, and one of her riders, John Nelson of Chicago lowered all the world's amateur competitive records from five to 62 miles and established a new hour and a new two-hour competitive amateur record.

The other amateur who gained distinction by his brilliant work yesterday was Jimmie Moran who won the two-mile amateur race in great style.

Cherry was prevented from riding by his accident and Summersgill the mile champion, said he was through racing here, promising to give Peabody an opportunity to race him at the championship meeting a year hence. However, despite this promise, there is a strong possibility of the two coming together in a special race at Boston next week.

Massachusetts riders won all except the 100 kilometre amateur. As was expected, Taylor took the mile international championship but he had to ride hard for it. In this race Nat Butler again got the worst of the argument being robbed of third place by a decision of the judges. Butler fairly won it, but the officials here seem to favor foreigners above all others.

The Butler boys won the tandem pursuit race in great style. They broke the five-mile world's tandem record and it is believed that all records up to that mark were lowered but nothing official is given out.

The summary of the races is as follows

AIRED IN COURT

Nashua Race Rioters Explain Their Difficulty

Peter Johnston and Thomas Moran, the two men who came together so forcibly in the late street fight between the Irish and Armenian residents of the city, were in police court this morning, says a Nashua despatch.

Johnston told his story in broken English and stated that he had lived in Nashua for five years and that for three years his name had been Johnston. In reciting his narrative of the fight, he said that he addressed a few soothing words to Moran relative to the trouble that had arisen among his people, and that while the honeyed expressions were still warm on his lips, Moran struck him savagely on the head with what appeared to be an immense club of wood. He knew nothing until he awoke in the hospital with the doctors bending over him. He also said that he had known but little since that day.

Several witnesses were called including the phyhician who dressed Johnston's wounds. He stated that the blow was a knockout one, but not of a dangerous nature. N. E. Rogers, an eye witness of that part of the fight in which Johnston and Moran played leading parts, testified that Moran struck the complainant.

Thomas Moran then went on the stand and admitted the assault, but claimed that it was aggravated by the language of the Armenian, who flung taunts in his teeth that no self-respecting man could stand. Upon such conditions he felt that there was but one thing to do, and he did it with a log of wood. Judge Holt bound Moran over in $300 bonds for the supreme court.

FLED FROM BEDS

People in Burning Block Scared

BOSTON FIREMEN GOT THEM OUT

Just in Time to Save Their Lives

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Fire broke out just before 1 o'clock this morning in the large tenement house, bakeshop and stable of J. W. Goodnow, baker on Centre street, near Green, Jamaica Plain. Three alarms within half an hour called nearly every piece of fire apparatus south of Dudley street to the scene. The property consists of a three and a half story wooden block numbered 710, 712 and 714 Centre street. Mr. Goodnow's bakeshop occupied the ground floor and several families live in the apartments above. The loss will not exceed $8000.

Great excitement was occasioned in the efforts of arousing and conducting these occupants to safety, some of them being overcome by excitement, while the rapid spread of the flames made their immediate getting out imperative. In night clothing and in scanty apparel hastily donned, nearly all rushed or were assisted to the street. No fatalities resulted.

BOXING GOSSIP.

The decision of the police board on Tuesday evening winds up the boxing in Lowell and henceforth the Nutone club will devote itself to other pleasures not under the official ban. The police commissioners in permitting boxing as long as they did, accommodated a large proportion of citizens who like such fun, a majority of whom are eminently respectable and prominent in the life of the city. When the official edict was rendered Tuesday night Manager Desmond gracefully accepted the inevitable and after thanking the commissioners for past favors went out and cancelled several matches already made for future dates. The Nutone club in its career never violated the confidence placed in it by the commissioners and the few disappointments are the lot of all clubs and were not the fault of the management. The local fraternity henceforth will read of the boxing in distant towns until some club in a city near at hand starts up, when they will pack their grips and make for the lucky town.

The New York Journal says:

"People are asking about this George Gardiner, a Lowell, Mass. middleweight who beat Bill Hanrahan and Harry Fisher in one week. That was an extraordinary record for a man who was never heard of before.

CYCLING NEWS

Eddie McDuffee has challenged Major Taylor to a 15-mile race to be held at Charles River park during the L. A. W. meet. If Taylor does not accept, the challenge is open to any rider who wants to take it up.

Jimmie Moran was an easy winner in the first heat of the half mile open amateur at Montreal, Wednesday. Ingraham, his team mate, was distanced.

Nat and Frank Butler broke the professional two-mile open competition tandem record at Montreal, Wednesday they having placed it at 3.47 3-5. This time is 14 seconds faster than the previous record.

In the one-mile amateur championship of the world at Montreal, the time was 3.43 2-5. It was pretty slow time for a race, where all the amateur champions of the world participated.

THE LAWRENCE OFFICE.

The 25th regiment is now practically full and by this evening it is expected that Col. Rice's regiment will have received its full quota, says the Lawrence Sun. It was originally intended to abolish the sub-recruiting stations which Col. Rice established in order to assist in filling his regiment as soon as the regiment had reached its quota but now that certain other regiments are finding difficulty in getting recruits, they are all to remain open and assist in filling these regiments.

The above are instructions from Washington, from the head of the recruiting department. Lieutenant Grant however, says he has had no order to stop recruiting for the 26th.

Boston Post—A very large portion of the recruits for the new United States volunteers are of Irish birth or blood or name. Irish names are also very well represented in the lists of officers appointed. I notice that one of the captains in Major Hartigan's battalion of the Thirtieth regiment is John H. Ryan, who was once an officer in the Clan-na-Gael guards. Major Hartigan himself may be of Irish descent. I have heretofore alluded to the way in which the army register is sprinkled with Irish names. The race takes naturally to soldiering, but its soldiering is all done for other countries than Ireland. It is not likely that it was ever done more cheerfully for any country than it is for the United States.

Did you ever See a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snowstorm.

No need of this snowstorm.

As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will

Ayer's Hair Vigor

melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation.

It has still other properties: It will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address,

NOT A GAME OF CHANCE.

Advertising is not a game of chance. It is a game of skill. The skill in advertising is to prepare good, attractive and truthful advertisements, and then place them where they will receive the widest publicity, for the least money.

This can be done only by using the papers with the largest circulation. In the field you wish to cover.

The Sun has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

It is in every way

...Lowell's Greatest Newspaper...

THE DREYFUS "BORDEREAU" AND THE "DOSSIER."

The acquittal of Captain Dreyfus is already in sight. The bordereau upon the authorship of which he was unfairly convicted is now a dead letter as far as evidence against Dreyfus is concerned, for Count Esterhazy has confessed that he wrote it to save himself. All that remains of the charges against Dreyfus is contained in the "dossier," a lot of papers supposed to bear upon the Dreyfus case. There are about nine hundred different papers, seven hundred of which have no reference whatever to Dreyfus. There are many letters from women relating gossip of a salacious character, chiefly concerning military officials and prominent society women. The reason for secrecy in the examination of the dossier is not on account of anything regarding Dreyfus but because the names of two military attaches, one German, and the other Italian, are mentioned in connection with a public scandal. Were their names to come out in such an affair both nations might demand explanations as there may be no foundation whatever for the charges made. They may all be forgeries as are the vile documents accusing Dreyfus of secretly betraying his country. All these things go to show the flimsy character of the evidence upon which Dreyfus was convicted and the abject subserviency of the courts in convicting an innocent man just because the mob or the army called for his conviction. There is something rotten in the present French government which will soon become apparent if the country enters a conflict with any other nation. The rottenness is in the military regime, in the extent to which immorality is tolerated in high society and connived at by the government authorities for the reason that they themselves are implicated.

AS TO SKILLED MILL HELP.

The scarcity of good families of woolen and cotton mill help has become a source of great inconvenience to many mills and although not much is said about it, a good deal of machinery is stopped because competent operatives cannot be secured. The conditions that controlled the trade during last year made it barely possible for the average worker to earn a living for himself and family. Low wages and short time were the causes of thousands of Canadian families returning to their homes and others gave up the mill to take something that would afford a greater income. Good times have brought a large proportion back to their old occupations, but enough will never return to overcome the scarcity of help until the new hands are educated or overproduction again stops some of the mills.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

The scarcity of good help complained of in the above item is due entirely to the grinding policy of the modern mill agent. When good operatives object to working for the same pay as the most unskilled and careless, they are let go for a lot of textile scabs or for operatives who never before saw the inside of the a mill, men and women who think themselves lucky if they can earn enough to save them from starving. The very best operatives are those who have some ambition, who strive to rise in their business, who demand fair wages and join a labor union, not only for their own protection but to learn something from associating with others. The scab operative so popular with the mill men has proved to be a treacherous fake, a humbug and a sham.

DANGER FROM OVERHEAD WIRES

The electrocution of four firemen while hoisting a ladder upon a burning building at Omaha furnishes another reason for putting the wires underground. What the Omaha firemen had to do was what Lowell firemen would have to do if they had to fight a fire in Merrimack street or Central street. They would have to hoist their ladders through a network of wires of high voltage and if the ladder happened to be a conductor or even if it is not, but is wet, it will conduct a current of electricity that will kill any man. Such a fatality is not surprising when light and trolley wires are everywhere dangling overhead along the sidewalks and over the roofs of buildings. The wonder is that there are not more such occurrences. The moral of the story is: Put the wires underground.

Judge Sheldon gave the newspapermen of Greenfield a severe lecture recently for publishing the fact that a case on trial before him had been tried in a lower court and that the accused had been convicted and fined $50. The judge at once took the case from the jury and calling in newspaper men responsible for the publication told them that they had no right to print the result of the trial in the lower court, as it was calculated to influence the jury. It is but a short time since Judge Bond fined the Boston Herald for expressing the opinion that certain evidence bore proof of guilt. It is plain that the press must be very cautious in referring to cases under trial by jury.

Snapshot photographs of the president strolling in the Adirondack woods depict him as wearing the top hat and tightly buttoned frock coat. Perhaps he likes this style of vacation garb, and if he does, nobody is called on to criticise. But if he wears it as a supposed concession to the requirements of presidential dressing, he ought to know that the great commonsense American people would be glad to see him take his ease in a shady hat and a flannel shirt.—New Bedford Standard.

That would be altogether too democratic for a ruler affecting the imperial dignity. We may be thankful that he goes without a body guard.

George Pullman taking the Keeley cure is an edifying spectacle. It brings to mind the misfortune that has followed that family ever since the victims of Pullman's greed in the town named after him, rebelled against his oppression. The old man has passed away and the sons have distinguished themselves by dissolute habits.

The president is reported to be enjoying seclusion at Plattsburg, N. Y. The politicians evidently don't expect any offices to be given out in the near future. But as there is a chance of gathering in the republic of San Domingo the imperialists will soon get after him.

In various sections of the state, the courts are bound to wipe out bicycle scorching on the highways. It is high time unless pedestrians are to be forced to depend upon balloon transit when ever they venture out of doors and balloons are expensive and gas not always at hand.—Milford Journal.

Ex-Governor Altgeld of Chicago is out against the democratic nominee in Kentucky. Mr. Altgeld seems very sore for some cause but he is taking the very step best calculated to destroy the last iota of his influence.

One fatal accident will move almost any city but Lowell. It takes at least half a dozen to arouse the city of Lowell, as has been demonstrated by the delay in appointing an inspector of wires.

The German emperor does not believe our Admiral Dewey made the statement that Germany will be the next country with which we will go to war.

CRISP GOSSIP.

Complaints are made by several Nashua residents that a window peeker has been operating in that vicinity the past few nights. Several women who are generally alone evenings, threaten to give him a warm reception if he does not desist. Wonder if that is the fellow that recently operated in Lowell?

According to the expressed opinion of a Lincoln square housekeeper no woman can get up cooked dishes to look as they do in the picture.

Of course we had rather have Lilla than gold, but if there is a scarcity of the former we can worry along with a reasonable amount of the latter.

Lloyd Hand, the new tenor of the Mostonians, is a 200-pounder, with thick tawny hair and an immense chest. He seems to be of the robusto type and the public will see a good deal of him in the costume of Robin Hood.

One of the jokes of the Oh-O picnic was played by H. C. McOsker, the well known and honored treasurer of the Lowell Irish Benevolent society. Hugh has served as treasurer for many years, in fact the organization will not take "no" for an answer when he declines to serve. Next to John Doherty he is the most conspicuous man on the beach with his grip-sack loaded down with money belonging to the society. He is responsible to the railroad and all other people that have bills against the society. As soon as he reaches the city of Lynn he immediately goes to a national bank and relieves himself of this hard coarse and responsible care which often amounts to over $2000 and receives in return a cashier's check which he can immediately get cashed on his return to Lowell. Yesterday while leisurely strolling along the beach one of the picnickers offered him $10 if he would let him carry the bag for an hour. Hugh immediately consented and when the fellow received the bag to his great astonishment, he found it as light as a feather but his $10 was not forthcoming. Hugh told him that he would consider it quite a favor if he would carry it around the rest of the day as he had no use for it. Mr. McOsker told me that within twenty-four hours after the picnic had taken place all bills were paid and everybody had what belonged to them. This, and otherwise is a record that no other organization can boast of and it is due to Mr. McOsker's business ability.

CUBANS HOSTILE

TO AMERICANS IN ALL LINES OF BUSINESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

HAVANA, Aug. 11—The Herald complains of the difficulties which it alleges are put in the way, not only of American doctors and lawyers, but of every branch of business, claiming there is seeming intention to make obstacles to discourage anything likely to do the country good. In conclusion it says:

"We cannot understand this feeling of hostility against the citizens of a nation desirous that Cuba take her rightful place in the commercial world."

PIRATES LOOT A VESSEL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11—The Empress of Japan brings news that a British cargo boat on the Canton river was boarded by pirates who carried away a cargo worth $75,000. The commander of the Sandpiper, an Admiralty launch, built last year at Hong Kong for protection of trade on the river, steamed after the pirates, who, however, succeeded in landing their goods near a village called Kanchi. The commander of the Sandpiper asked that the pirates be delivered to him and the goods restored. No satisfactory reply was given and he shelled the place, which was entirely destroyed.

LIGHT PLANT BURNED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Fire Wednesday night destroyed one of the buildings of the electric light plant of the Washington Traction and Electric company, causing a loss of probably $50,000. NEW MILL

RAPID PROGRESS MADE ON THE AMOSKEAG'S NEW STRUCTURE.

The big new mill of the Amoskeag corporation in Manchester, N. H., in which many Lowell mill employes are interested and occupying the site of the old No. 4 looms up in an almost completed state. The roof is about boarded over and a gang of laborers has already begun to tar and shingle it off.

The stringers for the flooring are being put up all through the building and as fast as possible the looms from the south part of No. 5 mill will be moved over to the structure. Besides this old machinery to be placed in operation, the machine shops of the corporation are at work upon a large order of looms for the new mill.

Connection between the huge penstock running to the water pits at the south end of the basement was almost finished on Wednesday and a force of masons was at work on the race-way running from the back of the mill to the river.

This mill, like the big No. 11 building will be heated with hot air for which five boilers are now being put in in the basement.

While the work of perfecting the south section of the mill goes rapidly forward the building of the foundation and walls which extend up alongside No. 5 also continues.

Wolcott will be present and several other eminent citizens, and that the establishment will be conducted in a fitting manner. The term will open on the first Monday in October.

THAT BORDEREAU

Which Condemns Dreyfus Written by Esterhazy

WHO SO INFORMS THE COURT

In a Letter Just Received

EXPLAINS EVENTS LEADING TO IT

Esterhazy a Physical and Mental Wreck

By Associated Press to The Sun.

RENNES, Aug. 10—Commandant Carrier, commissary of the court martial which is trying Dreyfus, received a letter from Maj. Esterhazy yesterday.

The letter is Esterhazy's refusal to return from London as a witness at the trial in response to a subpoena and guarantee of safe conduct from the French government.

The letter is a rambling and disjointed communication of 4000 words, evidently work of a disappointed mind. That Esterhazy is practically mad everybody who has met him knows. His emaciated face, his burning, glittering eyes, sunken deep in their sockets, his deeply furrowed forehead and his high spasmodic nervous tension, all show clearly to any alienist the incurable result of sleeplessness, dissipation and absinthe.

Esterhazy makes specific statements in the letter just received which are of the highest significance, as follows:

"I entered into relations with Schwarzkoppen, the German military attache, in 1894.

"Schwarzkoppen told me that he had in his service at the French ministry of war a captain of artillery. I told this to Sandherr, and he said: 'I know the man and I've got him.'

"I wrote the bordereau on Sandherr's instructions, and took it myself to the German embassy when I knew Schwarzkopen was away from Paris on leave. It was seized there by one of our agents, a German, and taken to Col. Henry.

"Henry was my friend. I had lived beside him for a long time. He knew me very well. He knew my handwriting better than anybody.

"Henry said to me: 'Our hands are full of proof against Dreyfus.'

These are specific statements, and this was the absolute beginning of the action against Dreyfus. The two active agents in causing it were Esterhazy and Henry. Esterhazy wrote the bordereau and had it delivered by a spy to Henry who knew he wrote it.

The arrest having been made and court martial instituted, the further action of these two conspirators is full of the greatest interest. All the evidence against Dreyfus on which he was condemned, degraded and transported consisted of two things, the bordereau now admittedly written by Esterhazy, and the secret dossier.

Concerning this secret dossier, which is now being considered with closed doors, by the court martial at the Lycee, Col. Henry's testimony at the Zola trial seems to have been entirely forgotten. It was in answer to Labori. He testified:

"I am going to explain my position with regard to this dossier. I long ago assumed the responsibility of it.

"In Nov. 1894, Col. Sandherr came into my office and said: 'I wish you would furnish me with everything you have concerning espionage since you have been in office here.'

"This period was a year. I went over my records and furnished him eight or nine documents."

For Alleged Kidnapping and Again Continued

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 10 Mrs. William Y. Perot of Baltimore, Md., charged with abducting her daughter Gladys, was again remanded at Bow street police court today, until Tuesday, bail being allowed as previously.

At the conclusion of the hearing she was served with a habeas corpus to produce Gladys, granted on the application of Mr. William H. Perot, her father-in-law and returnable in the High Court Saturday.

The court was well filled with a fashionably dressed audience before the commencement proceedings, including Misses Blood, N. Blood, Solicitor General Richards, W. H. Perot, Sr., Messrs. Hoskon and Sumner of the United States embassy; Detective Caulf and the lawyers interested in the case. Mrs. Perot appeared holding Gladys by the hand.

Counsel for Mrs. Perot said he had received the extradition papers only an hour previously and had not had time to examine them. Therefore he asked for a short adjournment.

Mr. Newton Crane, counsel for Mr. W. H. Perot, said he did not object, provided it was understood that there would be no further postponement. This was agreed to.

Mrs. Perot left the dock smiling at Gladys, and saying: "Come along, darling." After she left the court room, the habeas corpus was served.

SECRET MARRIAGE

OF TWO PROMINENT CONNECTICUT SOCIETY PEOPLE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SIMSBURY, Conn., Aug. 10. It became known today through a formal announcement that Charles P. Case, the son of Alonzo Case, of this city, and Miss Sarah G. Eno, a daughter of Aaron Eno of Simsbury and connected with the New York millionaires of that name, were secretly married in New York in May last. It is said the young woman's parents and members of the Eno family were bitterly opposed to the match.

In May Miss Eno visited South Norwalk and there went to New York where Mr. Case is employed as a bookkeeper in Fulton market. The marriage took place secretly and the young bride returned to Simsbury where nothing was known of the ceremony.

Meanwhile the opposition of the parents was modified but Mr. Phelps, the grandfather, was at Durate. The latter's death in New York on Sunday, however, removed further necessity for secrecy and the young couple yesterday attended the funeral together. It turning to Simsbury the May marriage was announced.

Alleged Liquor Sellers Also Fined

There were no drunks in the police court this morning.

George Vamvas was found guilty of assault and battery on Marie L. Adam. The court imposed a fine of $10, which was paid.

James Curtin was charged with threatening his wife. He was found guilty and was placed in charge of Probation Officer Tuttle for a term of six months.

Robert B. Moxley, for assault and battery on James White, was sentenced to jail for a term of five months. This assault occurred in a stable in Church street Tuesday. Both men, it appears, were intoxicated at the time. Moxley knocked White down and severely kicked him about the head and face. White was so badly assaulted that he was taken to St. John's hospital where his wounds were dressed. In court his face presented a battered appearance.

The case of John J. Meehan, charged with non-support of his child, was placed on file.

Mr. Batchelder was fined $100 for pretending to be an innholder but Ryan was discharged.

The case against these men for maintaining a liquor nuisance was continued until Sept. 9.

The continued case of Sydney P. Gowing, charged with forgery, was put over to August 24.

The arguments in the case against the Crooks for assault on Officer Walsh were made. Lawyers Hennessey and Hagan argued for the defendants and Deputy Moffatt for the prosecution. The court reserved its decision until Saturday morning.

COLUMBIA AGAIN

Has Defeated Her Rival, the Defender

BUT BY LESS THAN TWO MINUTES.

Bad Weather Rendered Matters Disagreeable

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—It was not quite so favorable for fair weather early this morning as the New York Yacht club fleet prepared for the third run of the cruise to Vineyard Haven. The wind was rather light, and what there was of it came from a dark bank of clouds in the south which had every indication of rain. The air was also muggy. In fact everything wore a decidedly dog-day aspect, being lifeless and uncertain. The yachtsmen were up early, however, and those who were on deck at colors saw the flags go up on the finest fleet of yachts ever anchored in the harbor.

Five minutes after colors boomed out from the flagship, signals were set directing the fleet to go to Vineyard Haven today, and proceed from there to New Bedford tomorrow. There was considerable grumbling over the latter signal, and not a few of the yachts expressed an unwillingness to go into Buzzard's Bay. It is almost certain that neither the Columbia nor the Defender will go there, but will sail back to Newport tomorrow. Too many rocks off the harbor seems to be the excuse of those opposed to the Whale City.

Out at the lightship, there was a large fleet of craft of all sorts, the steamers most generously lying by until the larger portion of the fleet had crossed the line while some stood right down toward the Vineyard. The breeze was a stiff one from the southeast with a heavy choppy sea and there were light air sails set while those who came out just to see the sights were satisfied to take in a single reef.

After everything else had squared away, the start being at 11 o'clock, even to the steamers for the next port, the big sticklers, Columbia and Defender hovered about the line. Both were hard on when the starting gun sounded. In fact the Defender was just in the act of tacking so as not to cross ahead of time.

At 11.20 the gun from the Corsair boomed and a red ball was hoisted. The Defender pointed up, her sails filled and in 10 seconds she crossed at 11:20:10 in a windward position. The Columbia crossed at 11:20:55.

Both were sailing like race horses, the Defender apparently increasing her lead until abeam of the Columbia the sheets were trimmed a trifle and she ate upon the windward, continuing this as far as the eye could reach. The several yachts that had gone out to see the start turned back this noon. There is a fleet of fully 50 yachts left in the harbor, some of the larger ones may proceed later but the majority will remain here. Three-quarters of an hour after the start, a thick rain set in, completely hiding the yachts from view.

MORE WITNESSES

Testified at Inquest on Bridgeport Horror

WITNESS SAW WORKMEN BUILD APPROACHES

Another Says Contact Box Was Open

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 10.—The inquest into the cause of the trolley accident on the Shelton street railway last Sunday being held by Coroner Doten and a jury here, was continued this morning. The most interesting testimony during the forenoon session was offered by Mr. George E. Hawes superintendent of the Birdsey, Somers & Co., corset factory here.

Mr. Hawes testified that last Monday morning he visited the scene of the accident. He arrived there at 8 o'clock and remained nearly an hour. At that time the large number of men were engaged in filling and tamping with dirt the ties bearing the rails on the northern approach at the south end of the bridge.

The men were divided into two gangs one of which worked about ten feet from the south end of the bridge. The men were divided into two gangs, one of which worked about ten feet from the south end of the bridge and the other 100 feet further on. During the hour which he remained there, said Mr. Hawes two carloads of earth were brought up, dumped and tamped beneath and around the ties. Witness produced photographs which he had made as the work progressed and which he offered to the jury as evidence. He said that the photographs were taken merely out of curiosity. Since they were made, however, he had seen articles in the newspapers to the effect that little or nothing in the way of repairs on the approach had been done between the time the accident occurred and when the approach was viewed by the coroner's jury. He then decided, in order that the jury might have all the real facts in the case to appear before it.

G. B. Underwood of New Haven, an electrician who at the request of Coroner Doten had examined the contact box on the front end of the wrecked car next was called. Mr. Underwood testified that he found the door of the contact box partly opened. The condition of the box indicated that it had been opened with a screw driver or a similar implement, as the bolts all were unbroken and in place which hardly would be the case had the fall from the bridge broken the box thus causing it to open. An examination of the interior of the box disclosed the fact that two or three of the contact figures were missing, rendering the reverse lever useless. In every other way the box was in good condition. The power was turned completely off, but there was no evidence that the power had been reversed.

Mr. Underwood examined the rail on the bridge at the point where the car had passed over just previous to toppling off into the pond bed. He said that if the power had not been turned fully off at this time an electric arc would have been formed between the motor and the rail. Evidence of this arc would have remained on the rail had it existed in the form of a black stain. The stain not being found he was certain that the power had been fully turned off before that point was reached.

Patrick Clark of Bridgeport requested that he be allowed to go on the stand as a witness to make a statement. The request was granted. Clark said that on Sunday afternoon at the time the car went off the bridge, he was in a carriage driving across the highway bridge almost directly under the place where the car fell. He also could produce two or three other men, eye-witnesses of the accident, who as yet have taken no part in the inquest. Clark said that after having read in the papers the statement of William Kelly of Bridgeport, who testified that he was on the car just before the plunge was made, had noticed that the car was not running rapidly, testified that the motorman did all in his power to stop the car in time to prevent an accident, and finally that by a sudden swerve of the car, he was thrown from the side over the bridge and into the mud on the flats below, he thought that the time had arrived for him to make a statement. At the time when the car came tumbling down from the bridge," said Mr. Clark, "I saw William Kelly sitting in a carriage on the highway bridge. As soon as the car struck the earth, Kelly jumped out and rushed to the spot and attempted to aid those in need. Kelly," said Mr. Clark, "was not on the car at any time."

Recess was taken at this point.

The recess was a short one and at its conclusion Expert Underwood was recalled.

He was asked if there was anything about the car to indicate that it could not have been stopped in time to avert the catastrophe. He replied:

"No, I think there was time to stop the car after it left the rails."

MAZET HEARING

Hears Testimony Concerning Joints

MOSS WILL SHOW THE POLICE CORRUPTION

For Which Commission Is Responsible

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—When the Mazet investigating committee resumed its session today Mr. Moss, counsel for the commission said the only book furnished by Captain McCluskey's detective bureau showing robberies, was a record of property recovered. A copy of this book was put in evidence. This record showed that property from all over the United States was brought to New York and disposed of in pawn shops and other places that in 1898 there was $2,2,600 worth of stolen property recovered by the police and returned to owners and that thus far this year $116,000 worth of stolen goods had been recovered and returned.

Mr. Moss called attention to the fact that Chief Devery's district showed no places suspected of being a gambling resort in the 22nd precinct while the evidence of the committee detectives was that they had gambled in a dozen such houses in that precinct alone.

Detective Wood, took the stand and said that in company with H. Harris he had visited a place in West 62nd street last night and got by the two "bouncers" all right. There was a Chinaman present and in one room there were about fifty women and men half nude lying on bunks and smoking opium. Some of the men appeared to be less than twenty years old.

The owners said everything was all right as long as they came up with the "Long Green" and referred to Captain Moynihan who commands the precinct as a "Good Fellow."

Wood further testified that he had made 400 visits to pool rooms in the city since he had last testified. He said that all the visits had been made since Chief Devery testified that no pool rooms were in operation in New York.

Summing up, Mr. Moss said: "We could close the pool rooms in 24 hours if it was any part of our duty." Mr. Moss said, "but we prefer to leave it to the police, the district attorney and the sheriff. We propose to show today that if the police department is demoralized, it is the fault of the commissioners. I have summoned policemen here to show the lenient way in which very serious offenses are punished." At the close of his remarks the committee took a recess.

Mayor Crowley has received a letter from D. H. Goodell of Antrim, N. H., asking comparative statistics relating to the arrests for drunkenness during the first three months of the present no-license year and those of 1898. Superintendent Davis furnished the required information.

THE STATE BOARD

Of Health Turns Attention to Picnic Grounds

AND OTHER OUT DOOR RESORTS.

To Ascertain Their Sanitary Condition

One of the inspectors of the State Board of Health as been detailed to begiFat once an examination of picnic grounds and certain summer resorts in different parts of the state in relation to their unsanitary condition. Among the places to be visited are Rockport, Salisbury, Revere, Lynn, Nahant, Swampscott, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Bridgewater, Fall River, Taunton, West Medway, Brookfield, Worcester, Northampton, Westfield, Palmer, Springfield, Holyoke, Fitchburg, Athol, Gardner and Pittsfield.

The places to be visited have been decided upon and the inspector is about ready to start out on the inspection tour. Special notice will be taken of the water supplies at the different parks, picnic grounds and other places where large numbers of persons congregate habitually for amusement and the sewerage systems will also receive careful consideration.

A similar inspection was also made by the state board about two years ago, when it was seen that the temporary arrangments at many places were most unsatisfactory.

At the suggestions from proper authorities the managers of places for public amusements improved the sanitary conditions of the grounds and it is expected that this will be done again this year wherever it is deemed necessary. The state board of health has authority to the extent that it can insist upon healthful conditions and usually the local board of health also have power to enforce compliance with health regulations.

It has been observed that typhoid fever spreads more readily in September and October than in any other two months of the year and as near as the health authorities have been able to learn, the cause for this perennial outbreak is traceable directly or indirectly to unsanitary arrangements in country places where the public assembles for amusement and recreation.

TEWKSBURY CENTRE

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN BOSTON AND MAINE TRACKS.

Civil engineers of the Boston & Maine road have been engaged during the week staking out the "new changes" to the tracks in Tewksbury Centre, bringing passenger train service nearer to the state almshouse.

This will do away with the western division station, thus making one station answer the purpose of the two and at the same time reducing the help one-half.

Mrs. Warren Lincoln, formerly of North street, Tewksbury, is seriously ill at her sister's residence in Lowell and her life is despaired of.

Mr. Gilbert Hodge of Lowell, was visiting in this village last evening.

Mr. Arthur Burtt of East Tewksbury is confined to his home with paralysis.

A lawn party is to be held at the residence of Mr. Charles French in East Tewksbury in observance of Miss Daisy French's birthday next Monday night.

Mr. Benjamin Spaulding is now occupying his new summer cottage at Trudo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, formerly of Tewksbury, who have been visiting this village, and who have been recently occupying th Tingley cottage, at Plum Island, have returned to their home in Chicago.

Rev. J. Herbert Yeoman, pastor of the Centre Congregational church, is stopping with Mr. William Kiernan, on Pleasant street, until the arrival of his wife in about three weeks, when the parsonage next to the Eastman residence will be occupied.

A great many base ball fans felt much disappointed that the rain of yesterday prevented the game between Joe Duffy's team and that from the state almshouse. Big Jack Sullivan of Lowell was to handle the "spheroid" for the Duffy team, while "Ollie" Moulton was to be in the box for the almshouse boys.

How about that last car from Lowell Wednesday night. Some one felt like engaging in a "cuffing" match.

FOR LABOR DAY

PLANS MADE BY WEAVERS AND BUILDING LABORERS.

A regular meeting of the Building Laborers' union was held last evening in their hall in Middle street. Two candidates were admitted to membership and preparations were made for Labor day.

The regular meeting of the Weavers' union was held in Leatherlvers' hall last night. The unfavorable weather deterred a large attendance.

About 50 women have already given their consent to ride in carriages in the Labor day parade. At the next meeting an aid to the chief marshal and a marshal of the Weavers' division will be chosen. A financial report was read and showed the union to be in a prosperous condition. The Labor day committee is arranging for a float for the parade.

EXPENSIVE OPPOSITION

BOSS STONECUTTERS HAVE TO PAY THE NEW YORK UNION $10,000.

A novel feature in strikes this year is the imposition of fines aggregating $10,000 by a trades union on an employers' association for undertaking to break it up the union organizing another in its place. It was not an outright stand and deliver piece of business, but it was the carrying out of a vendetta by the Journeymen Stonecutters' society against the New York Stone Trade association, that had nearly succeeded in breaking it up. When it was thrown prone on the ground, however, it rose Antaeuslike with renewed strength, attacked the association and has just won.

The struggle lasted an entire year and more. It was in June, 1898, when the freestone planers made a demand upon their employers for a reduction of the hours of labor from nine to eight hours per day without any reduction of pay. The employers got together, refused to grant the demand, and the men struck. The employers had considerable supplies of rough dressed stone on hand and got along very well as long as that lasted. But when that was used up and the employers sought to fill the strikers' places with nonunion men the other men in the stone trade said they would not work with them.

This angered the employers, and they organized a powerful defensive and offensive alliance and announced that they were going to manage their own affairs and not submit to any outside dictation. They were joined by the employers in the same trade all around New York and invited workmen from other cities to come and work for them and promised them ample protection and as steady work as they could give. The strikes that followed involved several other building trades whose members refused to handle stone planed by nonunion men.

Many of the original strikers, however, weakened, and with those as a nucleus the employers formed another union under the name of Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2. Other nonunion men joined it, men of allied trades returned to work, and Society No. 1 became almost dismembered, and its men returned to work under old conditions. Those who did return to work were told that they must join Society No. 2, and the men said their leaders were blacklisted.

These and others stood by No. 1 secretly and went quietly to work and brought back nearly all who were forced out. They allied themselves with the Building Trades Council, that had never recognized Society No. 2, and a few weeks ago they demanded that none but members of Society No. 1 be employed on any buildings and fixed the initiation fees to Society No. 1 at $40 for stonecutters, $30 for planers and sawyers and $25 for laborers.

The employers, who had not been aware of the quiet and steady growth of Society No. 1 and of its affiliation with the Building Trades Council, offered fight, but when confronted with threats of general tie ups and consequent delay of work and loss of money came to terms. The men of Society No. 2, whom they had promised to stand by and give steady employment to, were unable to pay the heavy initiation fees, which altogether would have amounted to about $20,000, it was said.

A conference was held between the representatives of the New York Stone Trade association and the Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2 about two weeks ago, and the association men offered to pay the initiation fees of the men of No. 2 if they were reduced one-half. This the journeymen offered to accept, and the executive committee of the New York Stone Trade association met and decided that the association would pay the amount of the fees providing Society No. 2 be amalgamated with No. 1.

President John R. Smith of the association said after the meeting, which was secret, that it was not definitely known what the amount was, although he did not deny that it was $10,000. Each member of the association, he said, will be taxed according to the amount given to the union.—New York Times.

Wardner and the President.

A Washington special says a committee composed of Edward Boyce, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and W. R. Goldensmith, a citizen of Idaho, accompanied by Senator Carter of Montana and Senator Heitfield of Idaho, has called upon President McKinley and laid before him facts concerning the recent riots growing out of the strike of the miners in Wardener, Ida., the part played by the Standard Oil company, and more especially the conduct of the colored troops called out to suppress disorder.

The president listened attentively to the long statement submitted to him, made copious notes, and it is said that he will demand an explanation of Governor Steunenburg of Idaho, whom the committee accuses of being at the bottom of the trouble.

The president was handed hundreds of affidavits, the majority made by women, who swore that they had been outrageously treated by the colored troops. More than one woman swore that she protected herself only with a revolver. Citizens of the county swear that they were robbed and maltreated by the soldiers out of pure wantonness.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

William A. Hogan of this city, supreme recording secretary of the Foresters of America, has been appointed chairman of the committee chosen to devise ways and means for receiving and entertaining the delegates to the next state convention, which is to be held in this city next year.

At the regular meeting of Court Gen. Shields, last night, one candidate was initiated and four applications were received and accepted.

Philip H. Boyanne of Worcester and Patrick Delaney of Fall River, members of the auditing committee of the Foresters of America, were in this city yesterday for the purpose of auditing the books of the grand secretary and treasurer of the order, John F. Maguire, of this city, who is also a member of the auditing committee, assisted by the Messrs. Boyanne and Delaney in their work.

Washington Commandery held its regular meeting last evening. The good of the order committee is hard at work preparing some entertainments for the fall meetings. D.G.C. George F. Howes, D.P.G.C. Frances Ellen Morrison and D.G.H. Frank W. Corson went to Lawrence recently and installed the officers of Starr King commandery. A jolly party went down with them on Simpson's brake and had a very enjoyable time. The officers of Malden Commandery were recently installed and some Lowell people were present. The installing officers were: George S. Armstrong, D.G.C., Addie S. Armstrong, D.P.G.C.; and George F. Hines, D.G.H. The Lowell delegation returned home by way of Boston.

At the last meeting of the Reform club, three candidates for membership were initiated and four application were accepted. A committee consisting of F. B. Bowers, George Farrow, Timothy Carty, James Mullen, James McGuire, Richard Reidy and John Dunkley was appointed to have charge of the outing to be held August 23, at Crescent beach.

A GOOD PLACE

SELECTED BY MAYOR EATON TO STUDY SUNDAY LAWS.

Mayor Eaton of Lawrence visited Haverhill, Sunday. It seems that he is making Sunday tours to various cities to compare them with his own place, relative to quietness and general observance of Sundays. He made the trip about the city unaccompanied, and on visiting the police station, complimented the officers.—Newburyport News.

His Honor was shown the above item, says the Lawrence Sun, and after perusing it stated that it was correct. He further stated that he already had made many Sunday trips to various cities with this object in view and that he found the Sunday serenity of Lawrence compared favorably with other places. He is deeply interested, as a mayor should be, in the welfare of his city, material and moral, and says if the city is one whit behind other municipalities he wants to know it, just as much as he does if it leads.

MURRAY DROWNED

Capsized Boat by Standing in it

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—While returning from a day's fishing trip, John Murray of 86 Chelsea street, East Boston, was drowned in the channel just off the stone wall at Governor's Island yesterday afternoon. At the time he was accompanied by two other East Boston men, and they were rescued by two fishermen.

The cause of the accident was the overturning of the boat in which Murray and his friends had been fishing. Murray was an Englishman, 48 years of age, and he leaves a wife and six children, the eldest of whom is not over 12 years.

Early yesterday morning Patrick Ryan of 164 Marginal street, and Emile Hanson of 170 Marginal street, both longshoremen, employed at the Leyland line wharf, started to go fishing in Ryan's boat. On the way to the boat they met John Murray, also a longshoreman, and employed on the same dock. The latter asked to go with them and was welcomed to make one of the party.

On the return home, Murray stood up in the boat, causing it to capsize, and the other men escaped, while he was drowned.

THE LITTLE JOKER

Boy Playing Tricks on Business Firms

O'HEIR & CO. VICTIM OF ONE

And the Bon Marche the Other

There is a twelve-year-old boy residing in the Oaklands who, if he does not mend his ways, will find himself put under restraint by the police authorities. He is known by several business firms of Lowell as the "Little Joker," but if he persists in his jocular methods he may yet find that jokes sometimes act as boomerangs and with serious effects.

This youngster walked into O'Heir & Co.'s furniture store, Merrimack Square, on Wednesday afternoon, and went up to Mr. Albert O'Heir, addressing the latter as follows: "Mother wants you to send over to the house some cheap grade of oil cloth sufficient for two rooms and wants it laid, too."

When asked the whereabouts of the residence, the boy informed Mr. O'Heir that it was in the Oaklands beyond Wentworth avenue.

Yesterday forenoon, Mr. O'Heir sent over to the boy's home a roll of oil cloth and two men to lay it in position on the floor. When the two workmen arrived at their destination and acquainted the mother with their mission, she was almost dumfounded, exclaiming: "That boy will drive me insane. I never ordered the oil cloth, and have no use for it, either." It is a way that my son takes of playing a joke on his father. Only the other day he dropped into the Bon Marche and ordered a picture sent to the house. It came and I had to return it, the same as I am now doing with the oil cloth. You call Mr. O'Heir I am willing to pay him for the trouble that he has gone to."

The workmen left the house and reported the result of their interview with the woman to Mr. O'Heir, who, of course, was much chagrined. He had lost the time of two workmen, had considerable trouble in carting over the oil cloth and he sent his heavy team way over to the Oaklands when he could have used it for other purposes near the central part of the city. He did not know what to charge the woman and fearing that he might be considered as overcharging he concluded the best way out of it was to place it on the profit and loss account of his ledger, while he keeps meditating where the jokes the boy is perpetrating come in on the father.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The monthly report of Statistician of the Department of Agriculture shows the average condition of corn on August 1 to have been 84, as compared with 87.8 on July 1; 91.2 on August 1, 1898; 86.9 at the corresponding date in 1897, and 85.8 the mean of the August averages for the last ten years.

MILITARY LOSS

Sustained by U. S. at Porto Rico

AS A RESULT OF THE HURRICANE

A Company Barracks Totally Destroyed

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The secretary of war today received the following report from General Davis, commanding in Porto Rico of the cyclone of last Tuesday:

San Juan, Porto Rico, Aug. 9.

Hurricane of extreme violence passed over Porto Rico yesterday. The principal military loss at San Juan, one temporary company barracks wholly destroyed, some quartermasters' property damaged. No personal injury yet reported but all wires are down. No injuries to shipping here save two small local schooners sunk, two sailors drowned. San Juan lights temporarily disabled. Cable reports from Ponce say all shipping is ashore. Custom house sheds badly damaged and goods stored therein. Messengers from two interior posts tell of barracks unroofed and personal and public property damaged. The loss by the inhabitants is very great and extreme suffering must result. The last hurricane as severe as this was in 1876. I would suggest public notice in the United States to the effect that contributions of food, clothing and money for the destitute would be received with the greatest gratitude and would be applied strictly to the relief of the destitute. Have appointed a board to supervise destitution. There are many thousands of families who are entirely homeless and great distress must follow.

DAVIS,
Commanding.

MURDERED MAN IDENTIFIED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, N. Y., Aug. 10.—From further descriptions received here from North Tonawanda there is no longer any doubt that the murdered man found in the box car at North Tonawanda was Thomas R. Davis of Rome. Edward Plunkett, who left here for the West with Davis on Saturday evening is under arrest. A 32-calibre American bulldog revolver was found on Plunkett's person. In it were three discharged shells and one snapped but unexploded and one empty chamber. Plunket admitted that he had been in Buffalo.

Davis was cautioned by several friends not to go with Plunkett who has served five years in the penitentiary.

REV. DR. BARROWS

Who Married Belmont and Sloane

PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY YESTERDAY

His Death Probably Hastened by Criticism

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 11.—Rev. Dr. Walter M. Barrows, pastor of the Second Congregational church at Greenwich, died yesterday at Mackinac Island, Mich., of kidney trouble. He leaves a wife and several children. Dr. Barrows was 52 years old. Funeral services will probably be held on Sunday.

Dr. Barrows was the first missionary of the Congregational Home Missions society at Utah, was afterward secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary society, and for ten years pastor of the Second Congregational church at Rockford, Ill. He became pastor of the Second Congregational church in Greenwich in May, 1898.

Dr. Barrows had been in ill health for some time and a few weeks ago went west for quiet. He became ill and last week his family joined him. His death was unlooked for, however.

Dr. Barrows was prevailed upon to marry Perry Belmont and Mrs. Sloane here, which caused considerable discussion.

His death, his friends aver, was undoubtedly hastened by worriment over the criticism on account of the marriage.

KILLED BY TRAIN

While Stealing a Ride With Other Boys

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WORCESTER, Aug. 11.—The body of John Mackie, about 16 years of age, was found on the railroad tracks at Rutland, this morning. He was terribly mangled and was not identified until late this afternoon.

The body was found by David Cushman, who was walking on the tracks. He reported the matter to the railroad authorities at Jefferson.

It was learned later that the unfortunate lad, whose home is in North Cambridge, was stealing a ride with two other boys. They were bound for Holyoke. His companions reached Holyoke all right and did not miss Mackie until then. Their report of the matter led to the identification of Mackie.

GAME POSTPONED

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—The Boston-Cleveland game which was to have been played here yesterday, was postponed on account of rain. Cincinnati will meet Boston today if not prevented by rain. Cincinnati has a record of twelve straight victories.

The New York and Brooklyn games were also postponed on account of rain.

The other league games resulted as follows:

MERRIMAC HERO

Oscar W. Deignan at Charlestown

ON THE GUNBOAT MARIETTA

Will Soon Get a Warrant Officer's Position

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Osborne W. Deignan, the young hero who stood at the wheel of the Merrimac and guided her to her grave in Santiago Harbor, and for whom congress passed a special act admitting him to the naval academy, reported at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday and joined the famous little gunboat Marietta as his chief boatswain's mate.

Deignan, who has but recently returned from Manila, from where he was sent home by Admiral Dewey to be mustered out and prepare for his entrance to the naval academy, has declined that honor for various personal reasons, and will continue in Uncle Sam's service as a chief boatswain's mate, the chief petty officer's berth to which he was immediately promoted after the Merrimac incident. He will be soon advanced, however, to a warrant officer's position of carpenter or that of gunner, which he wishes particularly and is striving for.

Deignan's present rate as a chief boatswain's mate pays him about $65 a month. As a warrant officer his appointment would be to life or good behavior like all officers draw a salary of $1800 per year, wear the same working and service uniform as that of the commissioned officers, have a stateroom of his own, mess with other warrant officers and junior officers of the ship, wear a sword and have numerous and responsible executive duties.

M, Royal Scots, Canadian militia, holding the commission of first lieutenant. Charlton is an all-round athlete. On the Montreal hockey team he played cover point and also rowed for the St. Lambert boat club. He had an offer to play with the New York hockey team last winter. Charlton is a boxer and wrestler of considerable ability. He has a chest expansion of about five inches.

Dennis Flaherty, the other recruit, served three years in Battery G and enlisted last year in Co. M, 9th Mass. Vols.

WILL LEAVE FROM BOSTON.

Mayor Quincy of Boston recently requested Secretary of War Root in behalf of the citizens of Boston, to allow the 26th U. S. Vol. Regiment, now stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., to start from Boston on its way to the Philippines. In regard to this request, Sergt. Weber of the Lawrence recruiting station said:

"If the people of Boston and vicinity want the regiment to start from Boston, there is no reason why their request should be denied. It will not cost the government any more to transport the men to Boston than it will to New York. I think Mayor Quincy's request will be granted. If it is, the friends of the men who enlisted from Massachusetts will have an opportunity to see them before they go."

LIQUOR CRUSADE

BEGUN BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AT PROVIDENCE, R. I.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 11—Today in the district court the cases for alleged violation of the liquor law brought by the anti-saloon league were called for trial.

The first was against Henry Cozzens, keeper of the hotel at Centredale. Two spotters testified they purchased whiskey, lager and ale in the hotel barroom on Sunday, July 2, while Cozzens was present. The defendant by his own and the testimony of several witnesses showed that on Sunday in question he was off on a fishing trip in Chepchet and did not return until Monday morning. Judge Sweetland found Cozzens not guilty and discharged him.

General Brennan, counsel for Cozzens, then announced that he would immediately proceed against the spotters, Louks and Robineau, for perjury.

Other cases are being tried this afternoon.

TIES WERE LOOSE

And Depression of Rails Was Noticeable

BRIDGEPORT BRIDGE IMPROPERLY BUILT

Important Testimony at Inquest Today

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 11.—The morning session of the Coroners' jury, which is inquiring into the cause of the Stratford trolley catastrophe, dragged somewhat slowly because of difficulties experienced by the sheriff in locating desired witnesses. The first witness examined today was George T. Jewell the town clerk of Stratford. He stated that he was at the scene of the accident before all of the bodies were removed from the wreck. Later he examined the abutment of the bridge and its approach. He noticed that ties were loose for a distance of from six to eight feet and that they yielded to his weight perceptibly.

At this point there was no dirt under or between the ties. His opinion was that the dirt had worked loose under the jarring of many passing cars. There was also, he said a noticeable depression in the rails, pronounced enough in his opinion to cause a rapidly moving car to leave the rails.

He said his weight was generally 150 pounds.

Engineer Starr was next called and offered in evidence a map of the approach and the bridge. He was of the opinion that the weight of 150 pounds would not cause the ties or rails to yield. The rails used on the road weigh 56 pounds to the yard. Had the rails been worked loose from the ties, he thought loosening spikes would have resulted. He said that he went over the trestle at 1.30 Sunday afternoon on the front platform of a car and detected no jolt or unevenness. He thought it possible that the dirt under the ties on the approach might have been loosened by people who clambered up and down after the accident.

David McGregor an inspector of the road, was the next witness. He testified that he knew the wrecked car fairly well, he never knew of its having been derailed and had never known of its being in any trouble.

At this point the jury retired to hold a consultation.

FAMINE IMPENDING

Hurricane Renders Porto Rico Destitute

Gen. Davis Asks the Government to Send Food to the Starving Thousands—Many Natives Killed During the Storm—American Troops are Living Under Canvas.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The War Department today received a cablegram from General Davis, giving fuller details of the damage done in Porto Rico by the hurricane. General Davis says a famine is impending and asks authority to issue rations to the destitute. The message is dated yesterday and says:

"Later reports show that hurricane was far more severe in interior and southern part of island than here. Data for estimate of number of Porto Ricans who have lost everything is deficient, but I am forced to believe that the number on the island cannot fall below one hundred thousand souls and a famine is impending. I ask that two and one half million pounds rice and beans equal quantities of each, be immediately shipped on transports to Ponce. Soma here. Urgent appeals to all post commanders for food for the destitute. Am I authorized to relieve distress by food issues, rice and beans only desired. There have been many deaths of natives by falling walls. So far only one soldier reported dangerously injured. Several towns reported entirely demolished. As yet have reports from only four posts. Complete destruction of all barracks at two and at two others one company of each had barracks destroyed. Troops are in canvass. No reports yet from the largest ports Ponce and Mayaguez, but they were in the vortex of the storm. At least half the people of Porto Rico subsist entirely on fruit and vegetables and the storm has entirely destroyed this source of support.

DAVIS.

FIVE HUNDRED DOOMED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Aug. 11.—It is now said that five hundred persons lost their lives at Ponce during the hurricane. Terrible distress prevails there. Arroto on the south coast has been destroyed, sixteen lives were lost there and the town is still submerged in water. At Guayuino the houses are still standing. Seven persons were killed there. A number of houses were pillaged, squads of soldiers were unable to maintain order and starvation threatens the population.

The water supply of San Juan has been stopped. The Coamo Springs Hotel has been wrecked. It belonged to the Porto Rico company of Philadelphia.

NO WATER, NO LIGHT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PONCE, Aug. 11.—The worst storm ever experienced here struck this place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and lasted two hours. It came from the northeast. Ponce was flooded at midnight, and at least 300 persons were drowned. Two hundred bodies, mostly those of poor people and including many children, have been recovered.

All the buildings are damaged and hundreds have been destroyed. The soldiers and firemen worked all night heroically saving lives. There is no drinking water, gas, ice or electric lights. The commissary stores at Playa were destroyed, the city is short of food and the army officers are distributing rations. Fifteen vessels in the harbor were driven ashore. The weather bureau predicted the storm but it is said Ponce was not warned.

A mob of 1,500 threatened the Alcalde, Porrata Doria, but they were dispersed by the Fifth Cavalry. The Alcalde has been deposed on account of negligence. Major Myers of the Eleventh Infantry is acting as alcalde in response to popular demand. The sanitary condition is serious and assistance is needed. All the crops are totally ruined. Wires are all down.

General Schwan today received the following appeal by cable:

San Juan de Porto Rico, Aug. 10.

My country is devastated. For God's sake, help us.

LUGOVINA, Captain.

Lugovina is one of the Porto Ricans whom General Schwan met during the campaign.

WAR DEPARTMENT RELIEF.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Secretary Root has prepared an appeal to the people of the United States to aid those who have suffered in Porto Rico by the recent cyclone. This action was taken upon receipt of a telegram from President McKinley suggesting that it be done. The subsistence department of the army in Porto Rico has been directed to render such temporary aid as it can until supplies arrive. The war department has taken prompt action on General Davis' report. The army transport McPherson has ordered to sail from New York for San Juan and Ponce next Monday with supplies to relieve the destitute in Porto Rico.

Acting Commissary General Weston has ordered the purchase in New York of 650,000 pounds of rice and 600,000 pounds of beans to be shipped on the McPherson. Other food supplies as may be obtained at the time the McPherson sails will be sent on that ship.

State Officers Hunting For Bourne Burglars

WOODS HAVE BEEN THOROUGHLY SCOURED

She Wounded Officers are Recovering

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOURNE, Mass., Aug. 11.—State Detective Letteny, several deputy sheriffs, and a number of state officers, assisted by a squad of villagers, continued the search this forenoon for the burglars who shot Deputy Sheriff Edward H. Burgess and Watchman Stillman Smalley yesterday morning. The woods adjacent to the town were searched thoroughly, but up to 11 o'clock today, the man had not been captured.

Deputy Sheriff Burgess, who returned from the Massachusetts General Hospital last night, is here today and although he bears several marks of his encounter, he is comfortable and it is thought he will soon recover. Mr. Burgess will return to the hospital tomorrow, when an effort will be made to locate the bullet in his right side. The bullet in his cheek was extracted at the hospital yesterday.

Mr. Smalley went to St. Rofolph's hospital in Boston for treatment, and although the bullet in his neck has not been found, he is out doors today. The surgeons at the hospital told him that if the course of the bullet had varied one-sixteenth of an inch, his jugular vein would have been severed, causing death.

ASPHYXIATION

Henry Cushing Cockerille Meets Death

Was Stopping at Relative's House

IN THE ABSENCE OF THE FAMILY

Medical Examiner Reports Death by Asphyxiation

Henry Cushing Cockerille, aged 51 years, residing at 9 Shaffer street was found dead in bed late yesterday afternoon as the result of asphyxiation in a house at the corner of School and Varney streets. When the body was discovered the room was filled with gas, that was pouring from an open jet.

Cockerille was a machinist of steady habits and was stopping temporarily at the house in which the lifeless remains were found.

A strange thing in connection with the affair is that the police were not notified and knew not of the finding of the body until the news was communicated to them at midnight from a person who received his information through an outside source.

The fact that the body was not discovered until late in the afternoon following the evening on which the man retired, especially when the gas jet was turned on, and when the whole house was filled with the odor of gas, is the occasion of much speculation.

The lady who occupies the house where the dead body of Mr. Cockerille was found would simply say that Mr. Cockerille retired at an early hour Wednesday evening and that she, presuming the next morning that he had risen early and had gone to his work, had no occasion to go up stairs in the forenoon but that when she went up in the afternoon to take care of the room he had occupied she found him dead in bed with the gas turned on.

Inasmuch as Mr. Cockerille was in the enjoyment of the best of health had steady employment, was of genial disposition and had a happy home at 9 Shaffer street where he resided with his wife and one son his friends are at a loss to understand what motive he could have had for self destruction.

THE LATEST VERSION.

The later facts in the case appear that Mr. Cockerille was sent for by Mrs. Chase, who occupies the house at the corner of School and Varney streets and who was the aunt of the man's wife.

In the house with Mrs. Chase lived a young, highly respected widow and owing to the numerous house burglaries that have been reported in the newspapers recently Mrs. Chase thought it was best to have a man there to keep a watchful eye over the place during her absence.

When Mr. Cockerille was approached on the matter by Mrs. Chase he consented and was in the performance of this duty when he met his death.

The young widow had occasion to go out during yesterday and did not return until late in the afternoon when the smell of gas attracted her attention toward the sleeping chamber of Cockerille. She knocked and received no response and called in a neighbor who resided across the street, namely, Mr. Orrin Osgood, who entered the room and found gas oozing forth from the open jet and Cockerille lying in bed close by in the cold embrace of death. The gas was turned off and Medical Examiner Irish sent for who after a superficial examination signed the return "Death by Asphyxiation." The body was then given in charge of Undertaker Currier and by him removed to Cockerille's late home, 9 Shaffer street.

CAPT. SIGSBEE TALKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 11.—Capt. Charles D. Sigsbee, of Admiral Sampson's squadron, formerly commander of the battleship Maine, has confirmed the report of the secret marriage of his daughter Dora and Balfour Kerr, a New York artist. When asked as to the truth of the report, Captain Sigsbee said:

"The report that my daughter was married in New York last November has been confirmed by a brief telegraphic despatch from my family. There is nothing to be said by me in the matter except that my judgment would have suggested a career and then marriage rather than marriage and the prospect of an impeded career. However, there is a lot of talent in the partnership and I shall hope for a new era in art."

Henry's treason caused considerable sensation here and was much discussed among the newspapers and all others interested in the trial. The affirmation of Henry that Esterhazy was his accomplice is only a confirmation of what has already many times been stated. But what was regarded as important was that the Times announced it in such categorical terms, demonstrating according to the views of the friends of Dreyfus here that the Times people have actually seen documents submitted to them by presenting the strongest proof of Henry's guilt and moreover that his accomplice's military attaché more than one foreign military attaché denouement could only preclude the publication by the Times of the actual documents.

"The Times' statement confirms my own views. I was convinced of Henry's complicity from the very first and always regarded him as the real culprit. Regarding the court-martial he said: "Tomorrow will undoubtedly be the most important day of the whole proceedings, as General Mercier and M. Casimir Perier, former president of France, if they admit will be confronted and a most dramatic scene is inevitable, as their declarations in certain matters differ on essential points.

HIS PROFITABLE NIGHTMARE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Frank Thorpe, a Cincinnati cloak manufacturer, had a profitable nightmare in Room 129 of the Hotel Vendome last night. He dreamed he saw his sister being dragged to death and in his horror he awoke.

Then he had another horror. He saw a man creeping on his hands and knees to his bedside. Thorpe leaped out of bed and seized the man who proved to be a burglar. The prisoner was taken to a police station where he said he was Harrison Minck.

MARY ELLEN SIGSBEE KERR, Daughter of the Famous Captain of the Maine.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11.—The publication yesterday of the secret marriage of Mary Ellen Sigsbee, daughter of Captain Sigsbee of the ill-fated Maine with Balfour Kerr, a young artist, caused no end of amazement here and in Jamestown. The Sigsbees occupy the King cottage in Jamestown. Capt. Sigsbee is at Bar Harbor with his ship. "I can't say anything about it," said the daughter today, blushing. "My mother is indisposed and cannot see anybody." Mrs. Kerr read the article but declined to add anything to it. Her mother likewise refused to talk.

"Captain and Mrs. Sigsbee have known it for some time," said Mrs. King whose cottage the family occupy. "But Mr. Kerr has not been in Jamestown this summer."

He is an art student whose family is well off. Both attended an art school together in Washington and there was no particular reason for secrecy as the parents would not have sternly opposed the wishes of their daughter in a love affair. They were married in New York city Nov. 26, 1898, the bride refusing to give her father's name and signing herself Mary Sixbee.

BAILEY - BAYLEY

Whole Army of Them at Willow Dale

A Good Time Despite the Weather

Descendents of John Bailey of Salisbury and Thomas Bailey of Weymouth, had their seventh annual gathering at Willow Dale yesterday.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather there was a large attendance.

Dudley P. Bailey of Everett presided at the morning session.

Hollis R. Bailey of Cambridge, Mrs. Milton Ellsworth, Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell and other members of the genealogical committee made reports.

Dr. Bailey responded for the line of Richard Bailey of Rowley.

The reports were ordered printed.

Pres. Bailey delivered an address suggesting co-operation in compiling genealogy.

Edwin Bailey of Lexington responded for the committee on certificates of membership and by-laws. He also complimented the secretary, Hollis P. Bailey, for his work of compilation.

Mr. Bailey suggested a number of amendments. The report was adopted, as was the form of membership certificate suggested.

John Alfred Bailey of Lowell presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted as follows: Dudley P. Bailey, Everett, pres.; Edwin A. Bailey of Lexington, George Ellison Bayley of Marshfield, Horace W. Bailey of Newton, William H. Reed of South Weymouth, Milton Ellsworth of Rowley, vice pres.; James P. Bailey, Lawrence, treas.; Hollis R. Bailey, Cambridge, sec.; John L. Bailey, Newton and Mr. Ellen T. Bailey of Boston John Alfred Bailey, and Dr. S. G. Bailey of Lowell, Harrison Bailey of Fitchburg, Mrs. Edward M. Bailey of Ashland, executive committee.

A short musical program followed and a paper was read by Horace W. Bailey of Newbury, Vt. His subject was "Richard Bailey of Rowley and His Descendants." Mr. Bailey said that he had read in some papers of the Bailey family of their civic, clerical and military records, but he acknowledged that he was unable to find much trace of an active war record. Eight descendants of John Bailey of Salisbury, residing in Newbury, Vt., he said, volunteered for the Spanish-American war. He said that in the next town history of Newbury, much space will be given the Bailey family. He closed by extending the greetings of the Baileys of Newbury.

Hon. J. Warren Bailey of Somerville read a memoir of William Wallace Bailey of Nashua, the late president and a memorial resolution in his honor was adopted by a rising vote.

An original poem by Elizabeth Emerson Bailey of Marietta, O., was read by the secretary.

Mrs. Esther B. Curtis promised a paper at a future day on the Baileys of England.

The president humorously remarked that undoubtedly there would be a war record developed for the Bailey family in that paper.

Pres. Bailey made a brief address on the life of Isaac Bayelton Bailey, who died since the last reunion.

The exercises closed with the singing of "America," and dinner was then served.

A NEGRO LYNCHED

HAD FRIGHTENED WHITE WOMAN

Who Had Given Him Some Food

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 11.—A special to the Commercial Appeal from New Orleans, says:

"News of a lynching in Grant Parish, La., has been brought through the finding of the mutilated body of a negro floating in the Naytachie creek. The victim was M. Singleton, who some days ago went to the house of V. Boyett, a planter, and asked for food of Mrs. Hayett, who was alone in the house. Mrs. Hayett took some bread and meat to the front gate when the negro ordered her to carry it for him into the bushes across the road. Mrs. Boyett at once took flight and ran through the house and out into the field, where her husband was at work. The details of the pursuit of the negro of his capture and execution are very meagre, but the corpse riddled with bullet holes and mutilated condition of the man's body show that the lynchers resorted to all the latest barbarity in execution of their victim.

Omega Oil

For Sore Feet.

Most all of us have trouble with our feet. Seems like the shoemakers don't know how to make comfortable shoes any more. At night we take off our shoes with a sigh, and hobble away to bed. In the morning our feet are swollen, sore, and tender. We then have to put on shoes and start off for another day's work. We often wish we were little boys and girls again, so we could go barefooted and really enjoy ourselves. But civilization makes us wear shoes, and we stuff our aching feet into whatever the shoeman sells us. The only comfort to be had now-a-days is to rub our feet with Omega Oil after bathing them in warm water. The Oil removes the soreness and tenderness. It makes the feet stop swelling, aching, and giving off a bad smell. It puts new strength and vigor into the foot muscles, and is such a comfort that you really can't tell in words what a good thing Omega Oil is.

AMERICANS WIN

"MAJOR" TAYLOR WINS MILE PROFESSIONAL

Moran of Chelsea Takes the Two Mile Amateur

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11, 1899—The United States won everything in the world's cycle championship races here yesterday, and one of her riders, John Nelson of Chicago lowered all the world's amateur competitive records from five to 62 miles and established a new hour and a new two-hour competitive amateur record.

The other amateur who gained distinction by his brilliant work yesteray was Jimmie Moran who won the two-mile amateur race in great style.

Cherry was prevented from riding by his accident and Summersgill the mile champion, said he was through racing here, promising to give Peabody an opportunity to race him at the championship meeting a year hence. However, despite this promise, there is a strong possibility of the two coming together in a special race at Boston next week.

Massachusetts riders won all except the 100 kilometre amateur. As was expected, Taylor took the mile international championship but he had to ride hard for it. In this race Nat Butler again got the worst of the argument being robbed of third place by a decision of the judges. Butler fairly won it, but the officials here seem to favor foreigners above all others.

The Butler boys won the tandem pursuit race in great style. They broke the five-mile world's tandem record and it is believed that all records up to that mark were lowered but nothing official is given out.

The summary of the races is as follows

Two-mile amateur open—First trial, won by J. F. Ingraham, Lynnfield, Mass.; second, H. W. Link, Highland, A. A., Syracuse, N. Y.; time, 4m 38 2-5s. Second heat, won by W. A. Ladue, Cold Spring, N. Y.; second, T. Hoopes, Des Moines, Ia.; time, 4m 32s. Third heat, won by W. H. Fearing, Jr., N. Y. A. C., New York; second, J. F. Moran, Chelsea C. C., Chelsea, Mass.; time, 4m 35 1-5s. Fourth heat, won by Alf Sheritt, Brantford, Ont.; second, Percy W. Brown, Century club, Pittsburg; time, 4m. 36 3-5s. Fifth heat, won by Earl W. Peabody, Wollawn C. C., Chicago, Ill.; second, John Caldow, Glasgow U. C. C., Scotland; time, 4m 25s. Sixth heat, won by A. Taillandier, France; second, C. P. Bolsvert, Montreal; time, 4m 26s. Semi-Finals, first heat won by W. A. Ladue, N. W., Cold Spring, N. Y.; second, W. H. Fearing, Jr., N. Y. A. C., of New York; third, J. F. Moran, Chelsea, Mass; time, 4m 25s. AIRED IN COURT

Nashua Race Rioters Explain Their Difficulty

Peter Johnston and Thomas Moran, the two men who came together so forcibly in the late street fight between the Irish and Armenian residents of the city, were in police court this morning, says a Nashua despatch.

Johnston told his story in broken English and stated that he had lived in Nashua for five years and that for three years his name had been Johnston. In reciting his narrative of the fight, he said that he addressed a few soothing words to Moran relative to the trouble that had arisen among his people, and that while the honeyed expressions were still warm on his lips, Moran struck him savagely on the head with what appeared to be an immense club of wood. He knew nothing until he awoke in the hospital with the doctors bending over him. He also said that he had known but little since that day.

Several witnesses were called including the physician who dressed Johnston's wounds. He stated that the blow was a knockout one, but not of a dangerous nature. N. E. Rogers, an eye witness of that part of the fight in which Johnston and Moran played leading parts, testified that Moran struck the complainant.

Thomas Moran then went on the stand and admitted the assault, but claimed that it was aggravated by the language of the Armenian, who flung taunts in his teeth that no self-respecting man could stand. Upon such conditions he felt that there was but one thing to do, and he did it with a log of wood. Judge Hoitt bound Moran over in $300 bonds for the supreme court.

FLED FROM BEDS

People in Burning Block Scared

BOSTON FIREMEN GOT THEM OUT

Just in Time to Save Their Lives

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Fire broke out just before 1 o'clock this morning in the large tenement house, bakeshop and stable of J. W. Goodnow, baker on Centre street, near Green, Jamaica Plain. Three alarms within half an hour called nearly every piece of fire apparatus south of Dudley street to the scene. The property consists of a three and a half story wooden block numbered 710, 712 and 714 Centre street. Mr. Goodnow's bakeshop occupied the ground floor and several families live in the apartments above. The loss will not exceed $5000.

Great excitement was occasioned in the efforts of arousing and conducting these occupants to safety, some of them being overcome by excitement, while the rapid spread of the flames made their immediate getting out imperative. In night clothing and in scanty apparel hastily donned, nearly all rushed or were assisted to the street. No fatalities resulted.

BOXING GOSSIP.

The decision of the police board on Tuesday evening winds up the boxing in Lowell and henceforth the Nutone club will devote itself to other pleasures not under the official ban. The police commissioners in permitting boxing as long as they did, accommodated a large proportion of citizens who like such fun, a majority of whom are eminently respectable and prominent in the life of the city. When the official edict was rendered Tuesday night Manager Desmond gracefully accepted the inevitable and after thanking the commissioners for past favors went out and cancelled several matches already made for future dates. The Nutone club in its career never violated the confidence placed in it by the commissioners and the few disappointments are the lot of all clubs and were not the fault of the management. The local fraternity henceforth will read of the boxing in distant towns until some club in a city near at hand starts up, when they will pack their grips and make for the lucky town.

The New York Journal says:

"People are asking about this George Gardiner, a Lowell, Mass. middleweight who beat Bill Hanrahan and Harry Fisher in one week. That was an extraordinary record for a man who was never heard of before.

CYCLING NEWS

Jimmie Moran was an easy winner in the first heat of the half mile open amateur at Montreal, Wednesday. Ingraham, his team mate, was distanced.

Nat and Frank Butler broke the professional two-mile open competition tandem record at Montreal, Wednesday they having placed it at 3.47 3-5. This time is 14 seconds faster than the previous record.

In the one-mile amateur championship of the world at Montreal, the time was 5.43 2-5. It was pretty slow time for a race, where all the amateur champions of the world participated.

THE LAWRENCE OFFICE.

The 26th regiment is now practically full and by this evening it is expected that Col. Rice's regiment will have received its full quota, says the Lawrence Sun. It was originally intended to abolish the sub-recruiting stations which Col. Rice established in order to assist in filling his regiment as soon as the regiment had reached its quota but now that certain other regiments are finding difficulty in getting recruits, they are all to remain open and assist in filling these regiments.

The above are instructions from Washington, from the head of the recruiting department, Lieutenant Grant however, says he has had no order to stay recruiting for the 25th.

Boston Post—A very large portion of the recruits for the new United States volunteers are of Irish birth or blood or name. Irish names are also very well represented in the lists of officers appointed. I notice that one of the captains in Major Hartigan's battalion of the Thirtieth regiment is John H. Ryan, who was once an officer in the Clan-na-Gael guards. Major Hartigan himself may be of Irish descent. I have heretofore alluded to the way in which the army register is sprinkled with Irish names. The race takes naturally to soldiering, but its soldiering is all done for other countries than Ireland. It is not likely that it was ever done more cheerfully for any country than it is for the United States.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation.

It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address,

NOT A GAME OF CHANCE.

Advertising is not a game of chance. It is a game of skill. The skill in advertising is to prepare good, attractive and truthful advertisements, and then place them where they will receive the widest publicity, for the least money.

This can be done only by using the papers with the largest circulation, in the field you wish to cover.

The Sun has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

It is in every way ☞

...Lowell's Greatest Newspaper...

THE DREYFUS "BORDEREAU" AND THE "DOSSIER."

The acquittal of Captain Dreyfus is already in sight. The bordereau upon the authorship of which he was mainly convicted is now a dead letter as far as evidence against Dreyfus is concerned, for Count Esterhazy has confessed that he wrote it to save himself. All that remains of the charges against Dreyfus is contained in the "dossier," a lot of papers supposed to bear upon the Dreyfus case. There are about nine hundred different papers, seven hundred of which have no reference whatever to Dreyfus. There are many letters from women retailing gossip of a salacious character, chiefly concerning military officials and prominent society women. The reason for secrecy in the examination of the dossier is not on account of anything regarding Dreyfus but because the names of two military attaches, one German, and the other Italian, are mentioned in connection with a public scandal. Were their names to come out in such an affair both, nations might demand explanations as there may be no foundation whatever for the charges made. They may all be forgeries as are the vile documents accusing Dreyfus of secretly betraying his country. All these things go to show the flimsy character of the evidence upon which Dreyfus was convicted and the abject subserviency of the courts in convicting an innocent man just because the mob or the army called for his conviction. There is something rotten in the present French government which will soon become apparent if the country enters a conflict with any other nation. The rottenness is in the military regime, in the extent to which immorality is tolerated in high society and connived at by the government authorities for the reason that they themselves are implicated.

AS TO SKILLED MILL HELP.

The scarcity of good families of woolen and cotton mill help has become a source of great inconvenience to many mills and although not much is said about it, a good deal of machinery is stopped because competent operatives cannot be secured. The conditions that controlled the trade during last year made it barely possible for the average worker to earn a living for himself and family. Low wages and short time were the causes of thousands of Canadian families returning to their homes and others gave up the mill to take something that would afford a greater income. Good times have brought a large proportion back to their old occupations, but enough will never return to overcome the scarcity of help until the new hands are educated or overproduction again stops some of the mills.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

The scarcity of good help complained of in the above item is due entirely to the grinding policy of the modern mill agent. When good operatives object to working for the same pay as the most unskilled and careless, they are let go for a lot of textile arabs or for operatives who never before saw the inside of the a mill, men and women who think themselves lucky if they can earn enough to save them from starving. The very best operatives are those who have some ambition, who strive to rise in their business, who demand fair wages and join a labor union, not only for their own protection but to learn something from associating with others. The selfish operative so popular with the mill men has proved to be a treacherous fake, a humbug and a sham.

DANGER FROM OVERHEAD WIRES

The electrocution of four firemen while hoisting a ladder upon a burning building at Omaha furnishes another reason for putting the wires underground.—What the Omaha firemen had to do was what Lowell firemen would have to do if they had to fight a fire in Merrimack street or Central street. They would have to hoist their ladders through a network of wires of high voltage and if the ladder happened to be a conductor or even if it is not, but is well wet, it will conduct a current of electricity that will kill any man. Such a fatality is not surprising when light and trolley wires are everywhere dangling overhead along the sidewalks and over the roofs of buildings. The wonder is that there are not more such occurrences. The moral of the story is: Put the wires underground.

Judge Sheldon gave the newspapermen of Greenfield a severe lecture recently for publishing the fact that a case on trial before him had been tried in a lower court and that the accused had been convicted and fined $50. The judge at once took the case from the jury and calling in newspaper men responsible for the publication told them that they had no right to print the result of the trial in the lower court, as it was calculated to influence the jury. It is but a short time since Judge Bond fined the Boston Herald for expressing the opinion that certain evidence bore proof of guilt. It is plain that the press must be very cautious in referring to cases under trial by jury.

Snapshot photographs of the president strolling in the Adirondack woods depict him as wearing the top hat and tightly buttoned frock coat. Perhaps he likes this style of vacation garb, and if he does, nobody is called on to criticise. But if he wears it as a supposed concession to the requirements of presidential dressing, he ought to know that the great commonsense American people would be glad to see him take his ease in a slouch hat and a flannel shirt.—New Bedford Standard.

That would be altogether too democratic for a ruler affecting the imperial dignity. We may be thankful that he goes without a body guard.

George Pullman talking the Keeley cure is an edifying spectacle. It brings to mind the misfortune that has followed that family ever since the victims of Pullman's greed in the town named after him, rebelled against his oppression. The old man has passed away and the sons have distinguished themselves by dissolute habits.

The president is reported to be enjoying seclusion at Plattsburg, N. Y. The politicians evidently don't expect any offices to be given out in the near future. But as there is a chance of gathering in the republic of San Domingo the imperialists will soon get after him.

In various sections of the state, the courts are bound to wipe out bicycle scorching on the highways. It is high time unless pedestrians are to be forced to depend upon balloon transit when ever they venture out of doors and balloons are expensive and gas not always at hand.—Milford Journal.

Ex-Governor Altgeld of Chicago is out against the democratic nominee in Kentucky. Mr. Altgeld seems very sore for some cause but he is taking the very step best calculated to destroy the last iota of his influence.

One fatal accident will move almost any city but Lowell. It takes at least half a dozen to arouse the city of Lowell, as has been demonstrated by the delay in appointing an inspector of wires.

The German emperor does not believe our Admiral Dewey made the statement that Germany will be the next country with which we will go to war.

CRISP GOSSIP.

Sweet peas are much scarcer than usual this season.

Col. Ingersoll left no will and no one knows how much of an estate he left.

The price of coal is going up. Was it ever known to go in the opposite direction?

August has given the fire department comparatively little fire fighting to do so far.

Motormen were wearing heavy overcoats on their runs into the suburbs last night.

Li Hung Chang's wealth is estimated at $300,000,000 and he has never been in a standard oil trust either.

There has been a noticeable decrease in railroad travel during the cool weather of the past few days.

In the man whose childhood has known caresses and kindness there is always a fiber of memory that can be touched to gentle issues.

These cool evenings are hardly suggestive of lawn parties and open-air concerts, yet it being summer all such festivities go.

A Tewksbury says remarks that when a girl gets a new diamond the rest of the girls put in their time wondering if it's glass.

I used to be a man of nerve.
But I must make confession.
Since I've met charming Miss de Black.
I've lost my self possession.

Complaints are made by several Newton residents that a whistling peddler has been operating in that vicinity the past few nights. Several women who are generally alone evenings, threaten to give him a warm reception if he does not desist. Wonder if Ott is the fellow that recently operated in Lowell?

According to the expressed opinion of a Lincoln square housekeeper no woman can get up cooked dishes to look as they do in the picture.

Of course we had rather have bills than gold, but if there is a scarcity of the former we can worry along with a reasonable amount of the latter.

"You're looking sour," said the maid.
As by the pan she tripped,
"I can't help that," replied the cream,
"You see I've just been whipped."

Tomaso Salvini the eminent Italian tragedian and his son, Gustavo Salvini, are seriously contemplating a joint starring tour in America next winter.

A tired Chelmsford street mother trundling a carriage along Prescott street Wednesday wondered why the babies always cry when farthest from home.

A Lowell party that searched for plover in the Granite State Wednesday returned empty-handed so far as game went, but well supplied with high bush blueberries.

It seems that no matter how many Mormon missionaries are sent into the south the rotten-egg crop is ever equal to the occasion. They must have peculiar hens in Dixie.

Thursday evenings appear to be Jonah ones for open air concerts. At least those who were attracted to the concerts at North Billerica found it so. Cause—too much rain.

The kissing bug attracts very little attention among the Western farmers at the present time. The real issue is the business-like grasshopper which has made his appearance and is putting in his best work.

Lloyd Rand, the new tenor of the Bostonians, is a 200-pounder, with thick tawny hair and an immense chest. He seems to be of the robusto type and the public will see a good deal of him in the costume of Robin Hood.

One of the jokes of the Oh-O picnic was played by H. C. McOsker, the well known and honored treasurer of the Lowell Irish Benevolent society. Hugh has served as treasurer for many years, in fact the organization will not take "no" for an answer when he declines to serve. Next to John Doherty he is the most conspicuous man on the beach with his grip-sack loaded down with money belonging to the society. He is responsible to the railroad and all other people that have bills against the society. As soon as he reaches the city of Lynn he immediately goes to a national bank and relieves himself of this burdensome and responsible care which often amounts to over $2000 and receives in return a cashier's check which he can immediately get cashed on his return to Lowell. Yesterday while leisurely strolling along the beach one of the pickpockers offered him $10 if he would let him carry the bag for an hour. Hugh immediately consented and when the fellow received the bag to his great astonishment, he found it as light as a feather but his $10 was not forthcoming. Hugh told him that he would consider it quite a favor if he would carry it around the rest of the day as he had no use for it. Mr. McOsker told me that within twenty-four hours after the picnic had taken place all bills were paid and everybody had what belonged to them. This, undoubtedly is a record that no other organization can boast of and it is due to Mr. McOsker's business ability.

CUBANS HOSTILE

TO AMERICANS IN ALL LINES OF BUSINESS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

HAVANA, Aug. 11—The Herald complains of the difficulties which it alleges are put in the way, not only of American doctors and lawyers, but of every branch of business, claiming there is seeming intention to make obstacles to discourage anything likely to do the country good. In conclusion it says:

"We cannot understand this feeling of hostility against the citizens of a nation desirous that Cuba take her rightful place in the commercial world."

PIRATES LOOT A VESSEL.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11—The Empress of Japan brings news that a British cargo boat on the Canton river was boarded by pirates who carried away a cargo worth $75,000. The commander of the Sandpiper, an Admiralty launch, built last year at Hong Kong for protection of trade on the rivers steamed after the pirates, who, however, succeeded in landing their goods near a village called Kauchai. The commander of the Sandpiper asked that the pirates be delivered to him and the goods restored. No satisfactory reply was given and he shelled the place, which was entirely destroyed.

FREIGHT RATE ESTABLISHED.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—A sensation was caused at the meeting here yesterday of executive officers of the Western Railroads by the announcement that the Grand Trunk railroad, in connection with the Burlington road and Maine Steamship line, has established a rate of 80 cents per 100 pounds on first class freight from New York to Kansas city by the Burlington and other direct lines.

LIGHT PLANT BURNED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Fire Wednesday night destroyed one of the buildings of the electric light plant of the Washington Traction and Electric company, causing a loss of probably $50,000. The place was used for the storage of electrical appliances. The upsetting of a lamp in an adjoining outhouse where gasoline was used caused the fire.

NEW MILL

RAPID PROGRESS MADE ON THE AMOSKEAG'S NEW STRUCTURE.

The big new mill of the Amoskeag corporation in Manchester, N. H., in which many Lowell mill employes are interested and occupying the site of the old No. 4 looms up in an almost completed state. The roof is about boarded over and a gang of laborers has already begun to tar and finish it off.

The stringers for the shafting are being put up all through the building and as fast as possible the looms from the south part of No. 5 mill will be moved over to the structure. Besides this old machinery to be placed in operation, the machine shops of the corporation are at work upon a large order of looms for the new mill.

Connection between the huge penstock running to the water pits at the south end of the basement was almost finished on Wednesday and a force of masons was at work on the race-way running from the back of the mill to the river.

This mill, like the big No. 11 building will be heated with hot air for which five boilers are now being put in in the basement.

While the work of perfecting the south section of the mill goes rapidly forward the building of the foundation and walls which extend up alongside No. 5 also continues.

BEAN WON OUT.

The fame of the Vesper-Country club golfers is spreading. In a handicap tournament held a few days since at Rye beach, on the links of the Abenaque Golf club, Mr. F. S. Bean, a member of the Vesper Country golf team, won out, playing from scratch against six other players. He broke both the nine and the eighteen hole records making the first round in 43 and the second in 45, a total of 91. The best previous records were 46 and 50, a total of 96.

THE TEXTILE SCHOOL.

The new textile school at New Bedford is in such a condition of completion that the first bale of cotton, donated by the Wamsutta corporation, of the whole city was run through the pickers recently. The machinery is rapidly being placed and put in running order.

The management is making plans for a somewhat extensive celebration of the school late in September. It is understood that Gov. Wolcott will be present and several other eminent speakers, and that the new structure will be dedicated in a fitting manner. The term will open on the first Monday in October.

REBELS ROUTED

Retreated in Great Disorder From Calulet

Were Completely Surprised by Americans and Sustained Great Losses—Fired the Town as They Left—American Troops Sustained Comparatively Slight Loss

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—General MacArthur's troops remained last night at Calulet. The rebels had evidently fled far beyond rifle range, for the American outposts were not disturbed and not a shot was fired during the night. At daybreak this morning a reconnoitering party, consisting of a battalion of the 17th infantry with one field piece started up the railroad track toward Angeles, four miles north. The party approached within 1200 yards of the town and opened fire with the field piece. The Americans were received with a badly directed rifle fire, which the battalion of the 17th returned with a few volleys. The strength of the insurgents at Angeles not being known, the situation was reported to General MacArthur who did not desire to send reinforcements and directed the reconnoitering party to return unless the rebels abandoned the town. Soon after the receipt of these orders it became evident that the rebels had set fire to the town, and fled, leaving the place to be occupied by the Americans.

A battalion of the 12th infantry was also sent out on a reconnoitering expedition towards the west; but up to noon no firing had been heard in their direction and no word had been received from them at General MacArthur's headquarters and it is believed they encountered nothing.

Everything indicates that all the rebels have scattered for miles in every direction around Calulet.

The insurgents lost heavily in the fighting around Calulet. It is believed that a hundred were killed and three or four wounded. The Iowa regiment killed thirty in one place, and one company of the 17th suddenly encountered a party of rebels in a trench and killed twelve.

The American loss was five killed and thirty-one wounded including three officers.

The attack was a complete surprise to the insurgents, who had no idea that a movement was intended until the armored car opened a deadly fire with two Gatlings, a revolving cannon and a sixpounder. The heavy artillery opened on both flanks a moment later. A majority of the Filipinos were asleep when the attack was made. Men with large bells were heard running along the shacks arousing the natives.

The Americans maintained almost a perfect line four miles [illegible] through cane-brakes where they could see nothing ahead. The mud in places was knee deep in the rice fields and jungles, and through the ditches flowed a small river several feet deep.

The Filipinos tried to ambush the Americans several times, the country in the neighborhood being well adapted to these tactics; but the troops stopped for nothing, forcing their way through or over obstacles and firing whenever they could locate the fleeing enemy.

The officers highly commend the recruits of the various regiments.

There is reason to believe the reports recently received that the insurgents are short of ammunition, as well-informed natives at Calulet say the insurgents had only forty rounds of ammunition each and that five rounds extra were issued just before the fight. Since the American occupation of San Fernando the rebels have torn up five miles of railroad between there and Calulet, and it is impossible to get the armored car more than two miles beyond San Fernando.

MacARTHUR TAKES SANTA RITA.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Gen. Otis cabled the war department today as follows:

Manila, Aug. 11, 1899.

To the Adjutant General, Washington:

MacArthur has taken possession of Santa Rita. Reconnoitring Bernc, Angeles and other points. Insurgents driven north. One casualty yesterday, none today. Condition of roads makes movements of troops difficult but considered necessary to open up this country, as it virtually gives control of province of Bataan and relieves inhabitants there. OTIS.

RECONNOITRING TODAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, Aug. 11.—Reconnoitring by small parties continued today. Unavailing attempts were made to get in contact with the enemy. The American troops occupy Calulet, Santarina, Baccoler and Guagua.

No further engagements have taken place. The rains have recommenced. The wounded are being brought into Manila. The United States transport Para from San Francisco, via Honolulu has arrived here.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Juvenile Offenders on Trial Today

JUDGE HADLEY SUGGESTS REGISTRATION

Of All Those Riding Bicycles in Lowell

In the police court this morning three drunks were arraigned before Judge Hadley.

Richard King was fined $5, and John Toohey and Richard Lendrum were each taxed $6.

George Brown was charged with the larceny of a coat valued at $4, the property of William Scott. Brown pleaded guilty and the court sentenced him to jail for six months. It was Brown's second offense for larceny. The coat was taken from Mr. Scott's room in the Arlington Hotel.

George Pierce, a juvenile, pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny. He was charged with stealing a bicycle valued at $25, the property of Herb. E. Haselton. The wheel was stolen from the curbing in front of Mr. Haselton's house in Market street, Tuesday afternoon. Adulphus Johnson testified that he saw a small boy remove the bicycle from the curbing Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Mr. Johnson was not positive that the defendant was the boy.

Mrs. Haselton said she reported the larceny to Officer Redmond Welch. Tuesday evening, the officer found the machine at the defendant's house. The defendant at that time denied stealing the bicycle.

Before imposing sentence, the court made a few remarks about the case. He suggested that all owners of bicycles should be compelled to register. If an officer found a person riding a bicycle who was not registered he would be empowered to arrest him on suspicion. This, the court believed would do away with considerable bicycle stealing.

The court thought the defendant was too young to impose a direct sentence. Instead, the boy was continued in the sum of one cent till Sept. 8.

The cases of Louis Landry and James McCullough, charged with being stubborn children, were again continued.

The case of James Aloupis, one of the Greeks charged with assault and battery upon Officer Walsh, which was to be tried today was continued until tomorrow for trial. Aloupis was not tried with the other Greeks because he is a juvenile.

The case of Frank Gaudet charged with non-support of his child was tried It was placed [illegible]

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature to do its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BOERS THREATEN

EXPECT TO BE FINALLY DEFEATED

Will Cost England a Vast Amount

GOVERNMENT GRANTS FURTHER CONCESSION

War Stores are Going to Transvaal

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Boer organ in London, the Standard and Diggers' News, today publishes a Johannesburg dispatch threatening Great Britain in the event of war, saying that the Boers are determined to wreck the mines and irretrievably ruin the general body of shareholders by blowing up millions worth of machinery, adding that war will mean the absolute ruin of Johannesburg, both as a town and as a mining center, and saying: "While it will doubtless end in a victory for England, the price of that victory will be the ruin of thousands who ought to consider the price they must pay before authorizing the government to declare war."

Another Johannesburg dispatch, however, predicts further concessions and says: "The reply of the Transvaal to the proposal for a joint inquiry is being delayed until the government has prepared a scheme granting the Uitlanders immediate and substantial representation, as the Transvaal will make every effort to avert intervention in the internal affairs of the country."

MINERS STRIKE

About 500 Quit Work at Wilkesbarre

WANT AN INCREASE OF 34 PER CENT

Are Preparing for a Long Seige.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 11—The miners at the Stevens colliery near Pittston have gone on strike because the company refused to grant an increase of 33 per cent in wages. The men numbered 500 and say they are determined to remain out until their demands are granted. The number of miners now reported to be on strike in this district is nearly 30,000.

Those employed by the Susquehanna Coal company at Nanticoke and Glen Lyon, who recently went on strike, have removed all their tools from the mines and have evidently made preparations for a long strike.

The miners at the Delaware & Hudson colliery at Plymouth have upon demand been given an increase from $1.75 to $1.90

Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C., writes: "Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, sister, and aunt having died from this dreadful disease. I was thoroughly alarmed, therefore, when a malignant Cancer appeared on my side, and at once sought the treatment of the best physicians. They were unable to do any good, however, as the Cancer continued to grow worse and spread. I then tried S. S. S., which forced the disease out, and cured me permanently."

THE GREAT BON MARCHE, MERRIMACK AND KIRK STREET

THE STATE BOARD

Of Health Turns Attention to Picnic Grounds

AND OTHER OUT DOOR RESORTS

To Ascertain Their Sanitary Condition

One of the inspectors of the State Board of Health as been detailed to begin at once an examination of picnic grounds and certain summer resorts in different parts of the state in relation to their unsanitary condition. Among the places to be visited are Rockport, Salisbury, Revere, Lynn, Nahant, Swampscott, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Bridgewater, Fall River, Taunton, West Medway, Brookfield, Worcester, Northampton, Westfield, Palmer, Springfield, Holyoke, Fitchburg, Athol, Gardner and Pittsfield.

The places to be visited have been decided upon and the inspector is about ready to start out on the inspection tour. Special notice will be taken of the water supplies at the different parks, picnic grounds and other places where large numbers of persons congregate habitually for amusement and the sewerage systems will also receive careful consideration.

A similar inspection was also made by the state board about two years ago, when it was seen that the temporary arrangments at many places were most unsatisfactory.

At the suggestions from proper authorities the managers of places for public amusements improved the sanitary conditions of the grounds and it is expected that this will be done again this year wherever it is deemed necessary. The state board of health has authority to the extent that it can insist upon healthful conditions and usually the local board of health also have power to enforce compliance with health regulations.

It has been observed that typhoid fever spreads more readily in September and October than in any other two months of the year and as near as the health authorities have been able to learn, the cause for this perennial outbreak is traceable directly or indirectly to unsanitary arrangements in country places where the public assembles for amusement and recreation.

TEWKSBURY CENTRE

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN BOSTON AND MAINE TRACES.

Civil engineers of the Boston & Maine road have been engaged during the week staking out the "new changes" to the tracks in Tewksbury Centre, bringing passenger train service nearer to the state almshouse.

This will do away with the western division station, thus making one station answer the purpose of the two and at the same time reducing the help one-half.

Mrs. Warren Lincoln, formerly of North street, Tewksbury, is seriously ill at her sister's residence in Lowell and her life is despaired of.

Mr. Gilbert Hodge of Lowell, was visiting in this village last evening.

Mr. Arthur Burtt of East Tewksbury is confined to his home with paralysis.

A lawn party is to be held at the residence of Mr. Charles French in East Tewksbury in observance of Miss Daisy French's birthday next Monday night.

Mr. Benjamin Spaulding is now occupying his new summer cottage at Trudo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, formerly of Tewksbury, who have been visiting this village, and who have been recently occupying th Tingley cottage, at Plum Island, have returned to their home in Chicago.

Rev. J. Herbert Yeoman, pastor of the Centre Congregational church, is stopping with Mr. William Kiernan, on Pleasant street, until the arrival of his wife in about three weeks, when the parsonage next to the Eastman residence will be occupied.

A great many base ball fans felt much disappointed that the rain of yesterday prevented the game between Joe Duffy's team and that from the state almshouse. Big Jack Sullivan of Lowell was to handle the "spheroid" for the Duffy team, while "Ollie" Moulton was to be in the box for the almshouse boys.

How about that last car from Lowell Wednesday night. Some one felt like engaging in a "cuffing" match.

FOR LABOR DAY

PLANS MADE BY WEAVERS AND BUILDING LABORERS.

A regular meeting of the Building Laborers' union was held last evening in their hall in Middle street. Two candidates were admitted to membership and preparations were made for Labor day.

The regular meeting of the Weavers' union was held in Loomfixers' hall last night. The unfavorable weather deterred a large attendace.

About 80 women have already given their consent to ride in carriages in the Labor day parade. At the next meeting an aid to the chief marshal and a marshal of the Weavers' division will be chosen. A financial report was read and showed the union to be in a prosperous condition. The Labor day committee is arranging for a float for the parade.

BILLERICA

ITEMS OF A PERSONAL NATURE FROM THE CENTRE VILLAGE.

Miss Mary Bennett Holden of Bennet Hall has been to Saratoga.

Miss Natalie Holden enters Smith College this coming autumn.

Mrs. David Grant of Goffstown, N. H., has been a guest in town.

Mr. Harry Dearborn, artist, was in town on Monday, coming from his home in Weare, N. H.

Miss Rena Baldwin of Tewksbury is visiting her cousins in this town.

An undertaker has located on the Boston Road, near the old Patten Place.

EXPENSIVE OPPOSITION

BOSS STONECUTTERS HAVE TO PAY THE NEW YORK UNION $10,000.

A novel feature in strikes this year is the imposition of fines aggregating $10,000 by a trades union on an employers' association for undertaking to break it up the union organizing another in its place. It was not an outright stand and deliver piece of business, but it was the carrying out of a vendetta by the Journeymen Stonecutters' society against the New York Stone Trade association, that had nearly succeeded in breaking it up. When it was thrown prone on the ground, however, it rose Antaeuslike with renewed strength, attacked the association and has just won.

The struggle lasted an entire year and more. It was in June, 1898, when the freestone planers made a demand upon their employers for a reduction of the hours of labor from nine to eight hours per day without any reduction of pay. The employers got together, refused to grant the demand, and the men struck. The employers had considerable supplies of rough dressed stone on hand and got along very well as long as that lasted. But when that was used up and the employers sought to fill the strikers' places with nonunion men the other men in the stone trade said they would not work with them.

This angered the employers, and they organized a powerful defensive and offensive alliance and announced that they were going to manage their own affairs and not submit to any outside dictation. They were joined by the employers in the same trade all around New York and invited workmen from other cities to come and work for them and promised them ample protection and as steady work as they could give. The strikes that followed involved several other building trades whose members refused to handle stone planed by nonunion men.

Many of the original strikers, however, weakened, and with these as a nucleus the employers formed another union under the name of Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2. Other nonunion men joined it, men of allied trades returned to work, and Society No. 1 became almost dismembered, and its men returned to work under old conditions. Those who did return to work were told that they must join Society No. 2, and the men said their leaders were blacklisted.

These and others stood by No. 1 secretly and went quietly to work and brought back nearly all who were forced out. They allied themselves with the Building Trades Council, that had never recognized Society No. 2, and a few weeks ago they demanded that none but members of Society No. 1 be employed on any buildings and fixed the initiation fees to Society No. 1 at $40 for stonecutters, $30 for planers and sawyers and $25 for laborers.

The employers, who had not been aware of the quiet and steady growth of Society No. 1 and of its affiliation with the Building Trades Council, offered fight, but when confronted with threats of general tie ups and consequent delay of work and loss of money came to terms. The men of Society No. 2, whom they had promised to stand by and give steady employment to, were unable to pay the heavy initiation fees, which altogether would have amounted to about $20,000, it was said.

A conference was held between the representatives of the New York Stone Trade association and the Journeymen Stonecutters' Society No. 2 about two weeks ago, and the association men offered to pay the initiation fees of the men of No. 2 if they were reduced one-half. This the Journeymen offered to accept, and the executive committee of the New York Stone Trade association met and decided that the association would pay the amount of the fees providing Society No. 2 be amalgamated with No. 1.

President John R. Smith of the association said after the meeting, which was secret, that it was not definitely known what the amount was, although he did not deny that it was $10,000. Each member of the association, he said, will be taxed according to the amount given to the union.—New York Times.

Wardner and the President.

A Washington special says a committee composed of Edward Boyce, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and W. R. Goldensmith, a citizen of Idaho, accompanied by Senator Carter of Montana and Senator Heitfeld of Idaho, has called upon President McKinley and laid before him facts concerning the recent riots growing out of the strike of the miners in Wardener, Ida., the part played by the Standard Oil company, and more especially the conduct of the colored troops called out to suppress disorder.

The president listened attentively to the long statement submitted to him, made copious notes, and it is said that he will demand an explanation of Governor Steunenburg of Idaho, whom the committee accuses of being at the bottom of the trouble.

The president was handed hundreds of affidavits, the majority made by women, who swore that they had been outrageously treated by the colored troops. More than one woman swore that she protected herself only with a revolver. Citizens of the county swear that they were robbed and maltreated by the soldiers out of pure wantonness.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

William A. Hogan of this city, supreme recording secretary of the Foresters of America, has been appointed chairman of the committee chosen to devise ways and means for receiving and entertaining the delegates to the next state convention, which is to be held in this city next year.

At the regular meeting of Court Gen. Shields, last night, one candidate was initiated and four applications were received and accepted.

Philip H. Roymane of Worcester and Patrick Delaney of Fall River, members of the auditing committee of the Foresters of America, were in this city yesterday for the purpose of auditing the books of the grand secretary and treasurer of the order, John F. Maguire, of this city, who is also a member of the auditing committee, assisted by the Messrs. Roymane and Delaney in their work.

Washington Commandery held its regular meeting last evening. The good of the order committee is hard at work preparing some entertainments for the fall meetings. D.G.C. George F. Howes, D.P.G.C. Frances Ellen Morrison and D.G.H. Frank W. Carson went to Lawrence recently and installed the officers of Starr King commandery. A jolly party went down with them on Simpson's brake and had a very enjoyable time. The officers of Malden Commandery were recently installed and some Lowell people were present. The installing officers were: George S. Armstrong, D.G.C., Addie S. Armstrong, D.P.G.C.; and George F. Hines, D.G.H. The Lowell delegation returned home by way of Boston.

At the last meeting of the Reform club, three candidates for membership were initiated and four application were accepted. A committee consisting of F. B. Bowers, George Farrow, Timothy Carty, James Mullen, James McGuire, Richard Reidy and John Dunkley was appointed to have charge of the outing to be held August 23, at Crescent beach.

A GOOD PLACE

SELECTED BY MAYOR EATON TO STUDY SUNDAY LAWS.

Mayor Eaton of Lawrence visited Haverhill, Sunday. It seems that he is making Sunday tours to various cities to compare them with his own place, relative to quietness and general observance of Sundays. He made the trip about the city unaccompanied, and on visiting the police station, complimented the officers.—Newburyport News.

His Honor was shown the above item, says the Lawrence Sun, and after perusing it stated that it was correct. He further stated that he already had made many Sunday trips to various cities with this object in view and that he found the Sunday serenity of Lawrence compared favorably with other places. He is deeply interested, as a mayor should be, in the welfare of his city, material and moral, and says if the city is one whit behind other municipalities he wants to know it, just as much as he does if it leads.

MURRAY DROWNED

Capsized Boat by Standing in It

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—While returning from a day's fishing trip, John Murray of 85 Chelsea street, East Boston, was drowned in the channel just off the stone wall at Governor's Island yesterday afternoon. At the time he was accompanied by two other East Boston men, and they were rescued by two fishermen.

The cause of the accident was the overturning of the boat in which Murray and his friends had been fishing. Murray was an Englishman, 48 years of age, and he leaves a wife and six children, the eldest of whom is not over 12 years.

Early yesterday morning Patrick Ryan of 164 Marginal street, and Emil Hanson of 170 Marginal street, both longshoremen, employed at the Boston and Maine wharf, started to go fishing in Ryan's boat. On the way to the boat they met John Murray, also a longshoreman, and employed on the same dock. The latter asked to go with them and was welcomed to make one of the party.

On the return home, Murray stood up in the boat, causing it to capsize, and the other men escaped, while he was drowned.

THE LITTLE JOKER

Boy Playing Tricks on Business Firms

O'HEIR & CO. VICTIM OF ONE

And the Bon Marche the Other

There is a twelve-year-old boy residing in the Oaklands who, if he does not mend his ways, will find himself put under restraint by the police authorities. He is known by several business firms of Lowell as the "Little Joker," but if he persists in his jocular methods he may yet find that jokes sometimes act as boomerangs and with serious efforts.

This youngster walked into O'Heir & Co.'s furniture store, Merrimack Square, on Wednesday afternoon, and went up to Mr. Albert O'Heir, addressing the latter as follows: "Mother wants you to send over to the house some cheap grade of oil cloth sufficient for two rooms and wants it laid, too."

When asked the whereabouts of the residence, the boy informed Mr. O'Heir that it was in the Oaklands beyond Wentworth avenue.

Yesterday forenoon, Mr. O'Heir sent over to the boy's home a roll of oil cloth and two men to lay it in position on the floor. When the two workmen arrived at their destination and acquainted the mother with their mission, she was almost dumbfounded, exclaiming: "That boy will drive me insane. I never ordered the oil cloth, and have no use for it, either." It is a way that his son takes of playing a joke on his father. Only the other day he dropped into the Bon Marche and ordered a picture sent to the house. It came and I had to return it, the same as I am now doing with th oil cloth. You call Mr. O'Heir I am willing to pay him for the trouble that he has gone to."

The workmen left the house and reported the result of their interview with the woman to Mr. O'Heir, who, of course, was much chagrined. He had lost the time of two workmen, had considerable trouble in carring over the oil cloth and he sent his heavy team way over to the Oaklands when he could have used it for other purposes near the central part of the city. He did not know what to charge the woman and fearing that he might be considered as overcharging he concluded the best way out of it was to place it on the profit and loss account of his ledger, while he keeps meditating where the jokes the boy is perpetrating come in on the father.

MILITARY LOSS

Sustained by U. S. at Porto Rico

AS A RESULT OF THE HURRICANE

A Company Barracks Totally Destroyed

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. The secretary of war today received the following report from General Davis, commanding in Porto Rico of the cyclone of last Tuesday:

San Juan, Porto Rico, Aug. 9.

Hurricane of extreme violence passed over Porto Rico yesterday. The principal military loss at San Juan, one temporary company barracks wholly destroyed, some quartermasters' property damaged. No personal injury yet reported but all wires are down. No injuries to shipping here save two small local schooners sunk, two sailors drowned. San Juan lights temporarily disabled. Cable reports from Ponce say all shipping is ashore. Custom house sheds badly damaged and goods stored therein. Messengers from two interior posts tell of barracks unroofed and personal and public property damaged. The loss by the inhabitants is very great and extreme suffering must result. The last hurricane as severe as this was in 1876. I would suggest public notice in the United States to the effect that contributions of food, clothing and money for the destitute would be received with the greatest gratitude and would be applied strictly to the relief of the destitute. Have appointed a board to supervise destitution. There are many thousands of families who are entirely homeless and great distress must follow.

DAVIS,
Commanding.

MURDERED MAN IDENTIFIED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

ROME, N. Y., Aug. 10.—From further descriptions received here from North Tonawanda there is no longer any doubt that the murdered man found in the box car at North Tonawanda was Thomas R. Davis of Rome. Edward Plunkett, who left here for the West with Davis on Saturday evening is under arrest. A 32-calibre American bulldog revolver was found on Plunkett's person. In it were three discharged shells and one snapped but unexploded and one empty chamber. Plunket admitted that he had been in Buffalo.

Davis was cautioned by several friends not to go with Plunkett who has served five years in the penitentiary.

REV. DR. BARROWS

Who Married Belmont and Sloane

PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY YESTERDAY

His Death Probably Hastened by Criticism

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 11—Rev. Dr. Walter M. Barrows, pastor of the Second Congregational church at Greenwich, died yesterday at Mackinac Island, Mich., of kidney trouble. He leaves a wife and several children. Dr. Barrows was 52 years old. Funeral services will probably be held on Sunday.

Dr. Barrows was the first missionary of the Congregational Home Missions society at Utah, was afterward secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary society, and for ten years pastor of the Second Congregational church at Rockford, Ill. He became pastor of the Second Congregational church in Greenwich in May, 1898.

Dr. Barrows had been in ill health for some time and a few weeks ago went west for quiet. He became ill and last week his family joined him. His death was unlooked for, however.

Dr. Barrows was prevailed upon to marry Perry Belmont and Mrs. Sloane here, which caused considerable discussion.

His death, his friends aver, was undoubtedly hastened by worriment over the criticism on account of the marriage.

KILLED BY TRAIN

While Stealing a Ride With Other Boys

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WORCESTER, Aug. 11.—The body of John Mackie, about 16 years of age, was found on the railroad tracks at Rutland, this morning. He was terribly mangled and was not identified until late this afternoon.

The body was found by David Cushman, who was walking on the tracks. He reported the matter to the railroad authorities at Jefferson.

It was learned later that the unfortunate lad, whose home is in North Cambridge, was stealing a ride with two other boys. They were bound for Holyoke. His companions reached Holyoke all right and did not miss Mackie until then. Their report of the matter led to the identification of Mackie.

MERRIMAC HERO

Oscar W. Deignan at Charlestown

ON THE GUNBOAT MARIETTA

Will Soon Get a Warrant Officer's Position

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Osborne W. Deignan, the young hero who stood at the wheel of the Merrimac and guided her to her grave in Santiago Harbor, and for whom congress passed a special act admitting him to the naval academy, reported at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday and joined the famous little gunboat Marietta as its chief boatswain's mate.

Deignan, who has but recently returned from Manila, from where he was sent home by Admiral Dewey to be mustered out and prepare for his entrance to the naval academy, has declined that honor for various personal reasons, and will continue in Uncle Sam's service as a chief boatswain's mate, the chief petty officer's berth to which he was immediately promoted after the Merrimac incident. He will be soon advanced, however, to a warrant officer's position of carpenter or that of gunner, which he wishes particularly and is striving for.

Deignan's present rate as a chief boatswain's mate pays him about $65 a month. As a warrant officer his appointment would be to rifle or good behavior like all officers draw a salary of $1800 per year, wear the same working and service uniform as that of the commissioned officers, have a stateroom of his own, mess with other warrant officers and junior officers of the ship, wear a sword and have numerous and responsible executive duties.

Charlton is a boxer and wrestler of considerable ability. He has a chest expansion of about five inches.

Dennis Flaherty, the other recruit, served three years in Battery G and enlisted last year in Co. M, 9th Mass. Vols.

WILL LEAVE FROM BOSTON.

Mayor Quincy of Boston recently requested Secretary of War Root in behalf of the citizens of Boston, to allow the 25th U. S. Vol. Regiment, now stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., to start from Boston on its way to the Philippines. In regard to this request, Sergt. Weber of the Lawrence recruiting station said:

"If the people of Boston and vicinity want the regiment to start from Boston, there is no reason why their request should be denied. It will not cost the government any more to transport the men to Boston than it will to New York. I think Mayor Quincy's request will be granted. If it is, the friends of the men who enlisted from Massachusetts will have an opportunity to see them before they go."
